New York 17, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Baron:

Enclosed is a letter from the Internal Revenue Service regarding our application for tax exemption. (I have made a copy of the important sections.)

The letter asks for information regarding our scholarship program. I thought I should seek your advice before replying. I have enclosed copies of our forms and criteria which apply to question 6. I thought it would be best to talk to you before preparing answers to the questions regarding applicants.

If you wish to call me, I can be reached at home; the number is JA 2-5435.

Thank you again for all of your help in this matter. The photo-copy of the application was very useful in securing assistance.

Sincerely,

Nannette Sachs, Administrator

MEMORANDUM

Date: April 23, 1965

To: CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc.

From: Michael S. Barron

This memorandum is in response to your request for guidelines to be followed by lawyers representng SEDF so that they will know what activities are permissible within your corporate charter and within the rules which must be observed if SEDF is to retain its tax-exempt status.

The income tax regulations permit SEDF to "defend human and civil rights secured by law". Although the charter limits this to costs "wherein questions and issues pertaining to civil rights and civil liberties arise," it is difficult to envision any situation wherein it would be improper for an SEDF lawyer to assist or represent a person accused of crime, since the right to a fair trial and the right to counsel are human and civil rights secured by law. In addition, SEDF is permitted to assist in the defense of any person accused of crime if the defense will involve raising substantial issues of civil rights or civil liberties.

In addition to representation at trial SEDF lawyers may, in cases described above, represent or aid persons in any and all ways in which it is customary for a lawyer to aid a criminally accused. This would include representation beginning at the time of arrest and would also include help in securing bail.

The question of whether SEDF assets may be used as bail is a far more difficult question. It is my feeling that this should not be done except in rare and unusual cases where it can be forcefully argued that the amount of bail set, or other circumstances involving the bail, have, in light of the actual circumstances of the accused, effectively deprived him of his civil rights or civil liberties.

In the area of civil litigation the sphere of permissible activity is also quite broad where the litigation seeks specific relief, as opposed to money damages. Thus, it is permissible for SEDF to sponsor and subsidize litigation aimed at enforcing civil rights now provided by law.

When a private litigant seeks money damages for the infringement of his civil rights or civil liberties, it is questionable whether SEDF may use its own funds in a law suit aimed at securing a private monetary benefit for an individual. It is my feeling that this should not be done, unless the plaintiff assigns to SEDF all rights to the money recovered, except $1. I have excepted the nominal amount of $1 so that the plaintiff would remain a party at interest in the controversy, and retain his standing to sue.

Aside from the legal fees involved in the types of proceedings described above, the foregoing statements would cover all other expenses incident to the litigation including filing fees, stenographic fees, necessary travel and meal expenses for attorneys.

Under many circumstances, it is customary to compensate a witness for loss of wages while he is away from his job to testify. Such payments should be avoided by SEDF if possible, but such payments are likely to be so small as not to jeopardize SEDF's exempt status.

Dear Mrs. Sachs:

In response to your question, the following is the status of the Application for Exemption from Federal Income Tax. The Application was filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue in Manhattan on October 3, 1963. Under date of October 25, 1963, we were notified that the Application had been referred to the National Office of the Internal Revenue Service in Washington, where it is now under consideration. This notice states that inquiries concerning the Application should be addressed as follows:

Assistant Commissioner - Technical Internal Revenue Service
Washington 25, D.C.
Attention: T:R:EO

The above information fully describes the present status of the Application. I shall be happy to supply anything further which you might wish.

Sincerely yours,

Attention: T:R:EO:6:CSG

Gentlemen:

The following is the information requested in your letter of January 24, 1964.

Subsequent to the granting of the four scholarships referred to in our Exemption Application, three scholarships were granted for the academic semester which began in September 1963, and two more have been granted for the academic semester which began in February 1964. The name and address of each recipient is as follows:

Joe Louis Smith, 1303 Gibbs Street, Mansfield, La.

Rubin K. Kenon, 703 N. Church Street, Lake City, Fla.

Janet P. Broome, 1520 West King Street, Pine Bluff, Ark.

John A. Gaines, 206 Hagins Street, Rock Hill, S.C.

Julia Aaron Humbles, 2005 Marigny Street, New Orleans, La.

Samuel H. Bolden, 6 Ashford Court, Allston, Mass.

Patricia S. Due, Box 565, Famu, Tallahassee, Fla.

James M. Mosby, jr., 1057 College Street, Memphis 6, Tenn.

Kathryn Patterson, 1107 Coosa Street, Birmingham, Ala.

In each case the basis for the granting of the scholarship was financial need, plus an interest in civil rights. No recipient would have been able to continue his education without financial assistance.

No recipient is related to any person who is in any way connected with us, our principal donors, directors, officers, or members.

The manner of selecting scholarship recipients is as follows: Applications for scholarship assistance together with the applicant's transcript and references are considered by our Scholarship Committee. This Committee is composed of four persons, two of whom are members of our Board of Directors. They in turn select two others to assist them in selecting the scholarship recipients. At present, the two other members of the Scholarship Committee are a lawyer and an educator, both of whom had demonstrated an interest in civil rights and in education prior to their connection with us.

In each case the purpose of granting scholarship assistance was to enable the recipient to continue his education.

Enclosed in duplicate are copies of applications submitted to us by scholarship recipients, together with copies of our published rules for selecting recipients.

That portion of a scholarship which is to cover tuition is paid directly to the educational institution whenever possible. That portion of the scholarship which is for living expenses is paid to the recipient.

Sincerely yours,

Ezra Levin called – he and Matthew Kreiser (?) (of his office - formerly with the IRS) tried calling before without success – but today reached Miss Gaskill at the IRS who is the agent (?) in charge of our application. Miss G. said there was nothing to report now – that ~~[illegible]~~ She "expects action" in two weeks (and to inquire again then. She is working on it. ??

Kreiser speculates there is trouble — that ~~[illegible]~~ perhaps she gave the application with her decision and comments to a reviewer and that the reviewer did not like her conclusions and sent it back to her for reworking. He thinks we should bring pressure from Congressmen if we can – or at least get another inquiry from Douglas or an inquiry from others.

→ Told Nannette – Marion Rich, Evelyn Dubrow in Wash., tomorrow –

Nannette will get after them to see what can be done.

ADDRESS INQUIRIES & FILE RETURNS WITH DISTRICT DIRECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE
Manhattan, New York
FORM 990-A REQUIRED ☒ YES ☐ NO	ACCOUNTING PERIOD ENDING August 31

Gentlemen:

Based upon the evidence submitted, it is held that you are exempt from Federal income tax as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, as it is shown that you are organized and operated exclusively for the purpose shown above. Any questions concerning excise, employment or other Federal taxes should be submitted to your District Director.

You are not required to file Federal income tax returns so long as you retain an exempt status, unless you are subject to the tax on unrelated business income imposed by section 511 of the Code and are required to file Form 990-T for the purpose of reporting unrelated business taxable income. Any changes in your organization's character, purposes or method of operation should be reported immediately to your District Director for consideration of their effect upon your exempt status. You should also report any change in your name or address. Your liability for filing the annual information return, Form 990-A, is set forth above. That return, if required, must be filed after the close of your annual accounting period indicated above.

Contributions made to you are deductible by donors as provided in section 170 of the Code. Bequests, legacies, devises, transfers or gifts to or for your use are deductible for Federal estate and gift tax purposes under the provisions of sections 2055, 2106 and 2522 of the Code.

You are not liable for the taxes imposed under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (social security taxes) unless you file a waiver of exemption certificate as provided in such act. You are not liable for the tax imposed under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act. Inquiries about the waiver of exemption certificate for social security taxes should be addressed to your District Director.

Your District Director is being advised of this action.

Very truly yours,

R. J. Slaker

The undersigned hereby certifies that the organization named above is one described in section 1116 (a) (4) of the Tax Law and is exempt from State and local taxes under Articles 28 and 29 of the Tax Law on all its purchases.

Attached is evidence of exemption as required by instruction 2 below.

Marvin Rich — Executive Director — February 11, 1966

Signature of officer | Title | Date

Instructions for Use of Certificate

1. Any corporation, association, trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, testing for public safety, literary or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, and which does not participate in, or intervene in (including the publishing or distributing of statements), any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office, is not subject to sales or use tax on its purchases.

2. Each organization claiming exemption under section 1116 (a) (4) of the Tax Law must file this certificate with the Sales Tax Bureau and annex thereto:

   (a) A copy of the Internal Revenue Service determination letter that the organization is exempt from Federal income tax as an organization described in section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code, or

   (b) where the document described in paragraph (a) has not been obtained, a copy of a letter received from a locality in New York State prior to July 1, 1965, showing exemption from local sales or similar taxes, or

   (c) if neither of the foregoing has been obtained, a statement: (1) of its purposes and activities (2) that none of its earnings inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and (3) that it engages in no propaganda, lobbying or political activity.

   Thereafter copies of this certificate, prepared by the exempt organization, may be accepted by vendors as proof of exemption and shall be considered part of any order given unless exempt status is revoked. Such copies need not contain the annexed material accompanying the original filed with the Sales Tax Bureau.

3. An organization which files this form with the proof described above may make all purchases tax-free unless it is notified by the Sales Tax Bureau that its exempt status has been revoked.

4. A supply of ST-121.1 may be obtained at any State District Tax Office or from the main office of the Sales Tax Bureau, State Campus, Albany, N.Y. 12226. Private reproduction of ST-121.1 may be made without prior permission from the Sales Tax Bureau.

Dear Evelyn:

In the event that you have not heard, I want to tell you that we received our letter of tax exemption. A truimph and a relief as you can imagine.

Much of the triumph is due to your efforts, particularly securing the letter from Senator Douglas. Our lawyer acknowledged that it never could have been done so expeditiously without help from Washington. We are very grateful to you for your help.

I would be happy to write a letter to Senator Douglas if it wuuld be appropriate. Would you let me know. (JA 2-5435)

We are of course very glad to put full energy into program now that the hurdle of exemption is behind us. Many thanks for helping to make this possible.

SUBJECT: PERSONS EXEMPT FROM THE SALES TAX

LAW: SALES TAX LAW (SECTION N41-2.0 OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK).

FACTS AND HOLDING: Effective July 1, 1952, the New York City Sales Tax Law was amended so as to eliminate therefrom the exemption heretofore accorded to semi-public institutions as therein defined, and to provide for exemption from the tax of any transaction by or with the following persons:

(1) The State of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state where it is the purchaser, user or consumer;

(2) The United States of America, in so far as it is immune from taxation;

(3) The United Nations or other world-wide international organizations of which the United States of America is a member; and

(4) Any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph. Nothing in this paragraph shall exempt retail sales of personal property by any shop or store operated by any college, university or other public or private institution for higher education from the tax.

An organization claiming exemption under (4) above, is required to submit such information to the Comptroller as will enable him to rule properly upon its status. Such organization is required to furnish an affidavit setting forth (a) the type of organization, (b) the purposes for which it was organized, (c) its actual activities, (d) the sources and disposition of its income, (e) whether or not any of its income is credited to surplus or may inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and (f) generally such other facts relating to its operations which may affect its right to exemption. The affidavit must be supplemented by a copy of the articles of incorporation or articles of association, as the case may be, a copy of the by-laws of the organization, a financial statement showing its assets and liabilities as of a recent date, a statement of its receipts and disbursements for the most recent year, and a photostatic copy of the letter from the United States Treasury Department granting the organization exemption from federal income taxation under Sec. 101(6) of the United States Internal Revenue Code.

Morgenstern Foundation

Dear Mr. Morgenstern:

Judging from the statement of purposes of your foundation, we felt that your board would wish to consider the project we have outlined in the enclosed prospectus. The idea is a little off the worn path, but we feel that is what makes it attractive.

Permit me a minute to introduce myself and state my business. I am by trade a professor of history at Brandeis University, on leave this year and in the process now of becoming the editor of this new civil rights magazine. Actually I should not say "new" magazine, for I believe our magazine is the first of its kind, and, of course, I believe it is desperately needed.

You will notice from the cover of the prospectus that the publisher of the magazine is an organization called CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund. (Andrew Norman of the Norman Fund, who is the chairman of CORE SEDF, suggested I write you). I have gone into the matter fully in the prospectus, but let me briefly announce at this point that this magazine is in no way a CORE magazine nor would it be an organ of CORE policy. CORE SEDF is tax exempt, and provides a home for an independent magazine serving the entire civil rights movement. If this were not an independent magazine, it would be a much less important project than it is.

I hope we have anticipated all the major questions in this statement, and that you will invite me to contact you and discuss the entire project with you very soon.

I look forward to seeing you.

Very truly yours,

Mr. Harry Ford
The Ingram Merrill Foundation
149 East 72nd Street
New York 21, New York

Dear Mr. Ford:

Al Murray told me he discussed our magazine, FREE AND EQUAL, with you at Ralph Ellison's place a few weeks ago. You said that the Merrill Foundation might wish to subsidize promising writers by helping to pay contributors to the magazine.

Let me introduce myself. I am Al's co-editor, Jacob Cohen, professor of history, Brandeis, on leave this year and preparing to edit the magazine permanently. (For further introduction, see p.18 of the enclosed prospectus.)

I composed the prospectus enclosed before Al joined me. This statement, you'll see, concentrates fairly exclusively on the civil rights field, but I assure you that, with Al's influence, the magazine will augment civil rights material with those discussions of art and literature and music and dance -- in brief, those discussions of American culture -- which give the proper resonance to politics.

You will notice from the cover of the prospectus that the publisher of the magazine is an organization called CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund. We have gone into the matter fully in the prospectus, but let us briefly announce at this point that this magazine is in no way a CORE magazine, nor would it be an organ of CORE policy. CORE SEDF is tax exempt, and provides a home for an independent magazine serving the entire civil rights movement. If this were not an independent magazine, it would be a much less important project than it is.

We hope we have anticipated all your major questions and would like to discuss the matter with you more thoroughly. Can we take you to lunch or something?

I look forward to seeing you.

Dear Mr. Bell:

On November 13th we sent you a letter and prospectus and since we have not heard from you, wondered whether our communication was lost. Enclosed is another copy of our prospectus.

Permit us to re-introduce ourselves and state our business. We are: (1) Albert Murray -- novelist, essayist, critic, formerly of the English Department, Tuskegee, and (2) Jacob Cohen -- professor of history, Brandeis, on leave. (For further introduction, see p.18 of the enclosed prospectus.) Together we have been hired to edit a new civil rights magazine. Actually we should not say "new" magazine, for we believe our magazine is therfirst of its kind, and, of course, we believe it is desperately needed.

You will notice from the cover of the prospectus that the publisher of the magazine is an organization called CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund. (Andrew Norman knows Mr. Atran. He is the chairman of CORE SEDF and suggested we write you.) We have gone into the matter fully in the prospectus, but let us briefly announce at this point that this magazine is in no way a CORE magazine nor would it be an organ of CORE policy. CORE SEDF is

MARSHALL, BRATTER, GREENE, ALLISON & TUCKER

MEMORANDUM

DATE March 6, 1964

TO: John P. Allison

FROM: Michael S. Barron

SUBJECT: Core SEDF - Proposed Magazine

Core SEDF is contemplating the publication of a magazine entitled FREE AND EQUAL. The purpose of the magazine would be to discuss theories, ideas and events which pertain to the civil rights movement. The purpose of this memorandum is to discuss the effect of such a magazine on Core's tax-exempt status. Core has not yet received its Exemption Letter.

There are two facets to this problem which will be explored in turn. The first question is whether the mere publication of a magazine jeopardizes tax-exempt status. Assuming a favorable answer to the foregoing, would the rules of Section 501(c)(3) influence the content of the magazine?

Publication of a Magazine

An exempt organization may publish a magazine so long as the publication is incidental to its charitable purpose and bears an intimate relationship to that purpose. Such a magazine would not prevent Core from being organized and operated "exclusively" for exempt purposes. Scripture Press Found. v. United States, 61-1 U.S.T.C. ¶ 9195 (Ct. Cl.); St. Germain Found., 26 T.C. 648 (1956).

There are several tests as to whether or not a magazine is incidental to exempt purposes. The first and most obvious lies in the content of the magazine. Since the entire magazine will be devoted to topics pertinent to the civil rights movement, this test is easily met. Civil rights activity is charitable: "to defend human and civil rights secured by law." Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(3)-(d)(2).

Another test is found in the Scripture Press case, where the Court of Claims compared the profits of the publishing venture against the fund spent for exempt purposes. Since these profits were many times larger than these expenditures, the court held against the taxpayer because the exempt activity was incidental to the publishing venture. Conversely in our case, the current projection is that the magazine will incur a very large deficit. This hardly bespeaks a commercial purpose. Hence, we would pass the test set forth in Scripture Press.

Further evidence of the permissibility of the proposed magazine is the fact that other exempt organizations publish magazines. Thus, the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing puts out a by-monthly publication entitled Trends In Housing. The American Jewish Committee has a publication entitled Commentary.

To be distinguished from our case is Rev. Rul. 60-351.

There the only activity of the taxpayer was publication of a magazine. The taxpayer was ruled not exempt. There was no other activity to which the magazine might have been incidental.

Content

An exempt organization may not spend more than an insubstantial amount of its activities in either influencing legislation or intervening in political campaigns. The publication of the magazine must not cause Core to violate this rule. The following operation rules are therefore suggested:

(1) Nothing in the magazine should take a stand for or against any candidate in any political election.

(2) Nothing in the magazine should advocate the adoption or rejection of any specific piece of legislation, national, state or local, or urge others to so advocate.

(3) To the extent that it is desired to express an opinion on any issue, which is also an issue with respect to any political campaign or piece of legislation, the discussion should involve only the issue itself without reference to the particular campaign or legislation.

(4) The magazine should avoid giving rise to the inference that the principal purposes of Core or the magazine may be achieved only by the passage or defeat of legislation.

(5) Mere uneditorialized reporting that a particular candidate has won a particular election, or that a particular piece of legislation has been passed, defeated or repealed would seem permissible.

To Andy Norman, Nanette Sachs, Marvin Rich
from Charlotte Devree

Letter from James Farmer to foundations.

Dear Mr. Engle,

In civil rights we are at a critical stage requiring ~~a new kind of~~ open discussion of goals, ~~of~~ policy and techniques. As you know non-violence can no longer be taken for granted. The leading organizations cannot expect to guide events to the degree that we have in the past, nor have we the unified strength of a few years ago. A forum for examination and discussion addressed to the entire movement, including the newcomer and the dissident, has become essential.

In my view the independent magazine proposed here can become this forum. Through a debate of varying views it can encourage a consensus, and in the careful consideration of major issues it can focus the consciousness of the movement, and concert its energies.

Also there is urgent need of an exchange of information among the many active, autonomous groups. We ought to involve the entire movement in a discussion of the failures and successes of certain actions, and the unexpected consequences ~~of action,~~ in order to improve method. Successful action now requires new sophistication, new knowledge of the complexities of public education, of housing, of the law. Our own chapters have been asking for years for a publication to give them this kind of information, and for the frequent, ~~widespread~~ exchange of ideas.

We need, now, to give the movement a new instrument of intelligence, of clarification, of guidance, through the exposure of ideas. I am sure you will realize the importance of this proposal, and will give it your most serious consideration.

Letter from James Farmer to foundations.

Dear Mr. Engle,

In civil rights we are at a critical stage requiring a new kind of discussion of goals, of policy and techniques. As you know non-violence can no longer be taken for granted. The leading organizations cannot expect to guide events as fully as we have in the past, nor have we the united strength of a few years ago. A forum of examination and discussion addressed to the entire movement, including the newcomer and the dissident, has become essential.

In my view the independent magazine proposed here can become this forum. Through a debate of varying views it can encourage a consensus--or a healthy understanding of differences. In the careful consideration of major issues it can focus the consciousness of the movement, and concert its energies.

As the fight for equality encounters the expected hardening of opposition, there is urgent need for an exchange of information among the many autonomous active groups. We ought to involve the entire movement in a discussion of the failures and successes of certain actions, and the unexpected consequences ~~of action~~, in order to improve method. ~~Successful action now requires new sophistication, new knowledge of the complexities of public education, of housing, of the law.~~ Our own chapters have been asking for years for a publication to afford them frequent communication with other groups, that all may learn from ~~each other's~~ experience.

We need, now, to give the whole movement a new instrument of intelligence, of clarification, of guidance through the exposure of ideas. I am sure you will realize the importance and urgency of this proposal, and will give it your most serious consideration.

Mr. David Hunter, Executive Director

Dear Sir:

The CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund wishes to sponsor a periodical to speak of and for the civil rights movement. The publication, despite its sponsorship by CORE SEDF, would be independent of all civil rights groups and therefore would be free to criticize and assess without organizational bias. It would be a medium for exchange within the movement, for recording progress and setbacks and for serious thinking about theory and tactics.

The enclosed letter from James Farmer describes the need for such a publication as seen by the National Director of one of the most active civil rights organizations.

A copy of the prospectus for the magazine also is enclosed.

Knowing of the interest of the Stern Family Fund in the movement for civil rights, we ask consideration of an appeal for a grant toward meeting the initial costs of publication. Our hope is to hire one of the two editors mentioned in the prospectus immediately. He would prepare two trial issues to appear in September and October. With the successful publication of these issues, we would seek funds to put the magazine on a permanent basis.

We believe that this magazine will make a valuable contribution at this critical moment in the life of the civil rights movement. We hope you will be able to look with favor on this appeal for funds to help us launch this publication.

Thank you for considering our appeal.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Raymond S. Rubinow
55 Fifth Avenue
New York 3, New York

Dear Ray:

Tuesday afternoon I spoke briefly with Miss Herzman about the enclosed proposal for a civil rights magazine. She told me you were terribly busy, and so, rather than take your time on the phone, I will take this means and hope you will find time to read and consider my letter and the proposal.

As I told you some time ago, I am doing volunteer work for the CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, which is the tax-exempt educational and legal defense arm of CORE. Recently, a bright, young professor from Brandeis came to our board with this exciting, truly important, and well thought out proposal for a civil rights periodical.

The publication, despite its sponsorship by CORE SEDF, would be independent of all civil rights groups and therefore would be free to criticize and assess without organizational bias. As described in the prospectus, the magazine will be of the movement and for it. It would be a medium for exchange within the movement, for recording progress and setbacks and for serious thinking about theory and tactics. All of us who know about the proposal are very enthusiastic, and all agree on the great need for it. The enclosed letter, to be signed by James Farmer, describes the need as seen by leaders of the movement.

We are asking now for contributions toward meeting the initial costs of publication, and, since this seems very much in line with Mr. Kaplan's philanthropic interests, we are hoping he will contribute to it. Moreover, we feel that if we can get two or three influential, liberal persons, such as Mr. Kaplan, to back this effort it will give impetus and momentum to the project and make it easier to get it started.

Our plan is to hire Professor Cohen as editor immediately. He would prepare two trial issues, if we can raise the money to do this, to appear in September and October. With the successful publication of these issues, we would then seek funds to set up and publish the magazine on a permanent basis.

Specifically, at this point, I want to ask whether you would be willing to talk to Professor Cohen when he comes to New York next Monday, May 4th, perhaps in the late afternoon. Of course, Cohen is very eager to interest you in this in the hope that you can make an appointment for him to see Mr. Kaplan about a contribution. In addition, we have told Cohen of your long experience in social action, fund raising, etc. etc., and we are all anxious to have your opinion of the magazine proposal -- how worthwhile, important and feasible you think it is, what you think our general prospects are for raising funds for such a venture, and so forth.

Ray, I hope you know that I would not intrude in your busy life unless I sincerely believed this publication to be of crucial importance. I think the events of the last two weeks have made all of us want to think through and evaluate the tactics, goals, and principles behind the action in this most significant revolution of our time. I know too that many times in the Breezy Point campaign, and I'm sure this has been so time after time in your social action experience, we felt the great need to plan, to consider the consequences of our action, to examine our goals and so forth. Instead, in social action we are usually forced to rush ahead crazily, with no time or means for thoughtful consideration of our actions. We believe this publication would greatly help the civil rights movement with these needs and problems to which I have referred.

I would surely appreciate it if you would telephone me (MA 4-7729), to let me know what you think of all this and to tell me whether you can see Professor Cohen when he comes to town on Monday.

Dear Joel:

Hope this finds you, Carol and the family well and thriving. Monty and I are fine -- would love to see all of you. We have just bought an old (120 years) house in Brooklyn Heights, and, while it needs a lot of fixing, it is quite a handsome place.

I'm not usually so formal about getting in touch with old friends, but know you are very busy and thought it would be better if I dropped you a note this time.

I have been doing volunteer work for the CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, which is the relatively new tax-exempt educational and legal defense arm of CORE. Recently, a bright, young professor from Brandeis came to our board with an exciting, truly important, and well thought out proposal for a civil rights publication. Enclosed is a summary of the prospectus for the magazine.

The publication, despite its sponsorship by CORE SEDF, would be independent of all civil rights groups and therefore would be free to criticize and assess without organizational bias. As described in the prospectus, the magazine would be of the movement and for it. It would be a medium for exchange within the movement, for recording progress and setbacks and for serious thinking about theory and tactics. Our plan is to hire Professor Cohen as editor immediately. He would prepare two trial issues, if we can raise the money to do this, to appear in September and October. With the successful publication of these issues, we would then seek funds to set up and publish the magazine on a permanent basis.

We are trying now to raise enough money to meet these initial publication costs, and we hope you will make a contribution. Further, it occurred to Monty and me that you might be able to put Cohen in touch with others who would be interested and willing to back this project. Specifically, at this point, I want to ask whether you would be willing to talk to Professor Cohen when he comes to New York next Monday, May 4th. He is very eager to tell people about it, and we would all appreciate having your help and opinions about the magazine proposal.

Joel, I hope you know that I would not bother you, as busy as you are, unless I sincerely believed this publication to be of utmost importance. I just somehow felt that you would see its importance too, and be willing to support it. The events of the last two weeks have made all of us want to think through and consider the tactics, goals, and principles behind the action in this most significant revolution of our time. I sincerely believe this publication would provide the forum for the thought, debate and evaluation so greatly needed in the civil rights movement.

I would surely appreciate it if you would telephone me (MA 4-7729), to let me know what you think of all this and to tell me whether you can see Professor Cohen when he comes to town on Monday.

Dear Marvin:

According to my records I have been paid only through August 27th leaving four unrequited days from this last, eventful year. If my figures are correct, the amount due me comes to $87.72, and frankly I need the money rather badly these days.

I have, this morning, sent a statement to Random House releasing all rights to the Farmer book--as is apparently customary in these matters. But before doing so I made certain that this would not leave CORE and Random House free to tear up the old contract and write a new one cutting SED out. Random House's lawyers assured me that you are protected and with that assurance I promised not to sue the lot of you for a million dollars.

As a new year's gift I have obtained a copy of the Brandeis Alumni handbook for 1963 with names and addresses and I'll be sending it to you with the confidence that you'll milk the list dry.

And a good year to you and your family, Marvin,

"Mass Negro violence will only come.... when it appears to be clear that none of the rational alternatives -- demonstrations or court decisions or politics -- are making basic enough changes in the way most Negroes live."
Gunnar Myrdal, 1963.

What will appear to be clear to the civil rights movement? Appearances often deceive. How pathetic it would be if mass violence came simply because the movement did not perceive real alternatives -- not because they did not exist but because they were not known. How, we must wonder, will America appear to the civil rights movement tomorrow and in the days after?

We offer these somber reflections to underscore the significance of what we take to be a remarkable fact: Today, there is no journal or magazine serving in the civil rights movement; no magazine then, exploring the rational alternatives to violence.

No magazine records the lessons learned daily, and yearly, so that they can be shared in the movement and applied. No magazine debates means and ends or dares treat the troublesome and subtle issues which hide behind the movement's bold front. No magazine asks what must be asked, again and again: why morally, why historically, why polititically, why tactically and strategically, why in fact, and why in theory, must we do what we do? And why now and not then?

There must be such a magazine. It will provide a place where men and women in the "movement" may disagree honorably. It will offer a safe space and time for second thoughts -- and first ones.

"No movement is strong," Bayard Rustin has observed, "unless it has contention and argument in strategy -- contention clarifies."

If the leaders of the civil rights movement, from national headquarters down to local chapters, agree on one thing, it is that the movement has reached a watershed. Tactics, once successful, suddenly fail. Principles which once seemed self-evident -- integration, non-violence -- are now openly challenged. Established organizations are crowded by newcomers. The backlash increases. And problems looming "beyond civil rights" -- such as poverty, unemployment, and the various lacks in the training and motivations of black Americans -- refuse to wait until discrimination and segregation are finally eliminated. Even those agreeing about goals may sharply disagree on which goals are primary and which secondary. Everyone asks, "What next?"

James Farmer of CORE: "A forum of examination and discussion addressed to the entire movement including the newcomer and the dissident, has become essential. We need now to give the whole movement a new instrument of intelligence, of clarification, of guidance through the exposure of ideas. In my view the independent magazine proposed here can become this forum."

Whitney Young of the Urban League: "The movement needs a publication such as the one you propose. Since the National Urban League discontinued its publication of OPPORTUNITY magazine, I have felt strongly the need for some independent publication which would select and encourage constructive dialogue on present and future issues in the civil rights movement. I heartily endorse the publication and would like to be as useful as time permits..."*

The proposed magazine will be an informative magazine, where movers will study and reflect upon the movement. A provocative magazine raising hell with enemies, and friends too. A constructive magazine, clearing the way through criticism and pointing the way by bringing dreams and schemes to light to see if they can withstand exposure. Ideas are weapons for equality; the magazine will provide an arsenal of weapons proven effective.

A forum, a chronicle, a place where again and again the movement assays where it is, where it's going, and tries to remember where it has been. A place to immortalize heroes and celebrate victories. A space for artists. A magazine, in brief, reflecting the whole movement, serving it.*

It will be asked, "Why another magazine? Do not general magazines and liberal journals cover the civil rights scene adequately?" Undoubtedly civil rights is hot news, but as between comment in the movement, for the movement and comment outside (no matter how sympathetic), there is a world of difference. Something like this is true of all political movements but it is especially true of this movement which more than most needs to feel that what it does it does for itself, and what it learns it learns alone. Advice, indubitably wise, but from the "outside," will be rejected. In this magazine it may give pause.

Yet among major civil rights organizations only the NAACP maintains a journal of any sort, CRISIS, thirty years ago a pioneer, today, quite intentionally a house organ. Urban League's OPPORTUNITY no longer appears. CORE, SNCC, SCLC, and NSM (Northern Student Movement) publish occasional newsletters. Beyond that there is nothing. Nothing except nine or ten "little" magazines -- some of them literary magazines, extravagantly rebellious in the tradition of literary magazines, others more doctrinaire -- and herein lies a tale.

Lately, there has been considerable worry over extremist influence in the movement, though it is not clear presently how great or how sinister this influence is. This much however is clear. Among intellectuals and would-be leaders swarming around the movement, a philosophy of violent revolution is all the vogue and this philosophy echoes the feelings of a growing constituency of the desperate. We quote from an editorial in the "Harlem Uprisings" issue of Liberator, a magazine widely read in the ghettos.

> During the recent uprisings in Harlem, Rochester, and Patterson, New Jersey the white press, politicians and "responsible leaders" condemned the measured response of the black community to the inhuman conditions of life in the ghetto. The black freedom fighters, armed only with rocks and gasoline bombs, and the indomitable will to be free, stood off the tactical police force, state troopers and national guardsmen who were armed with every conceivable weapon in their arsenal. Nowhere to be found were the "responsible leaders." One was in Europe explaining how the "natives" were happy; another was 600 miles away in the mid-west and the other was off on a safari in the South looking for more black souls to sacrifice on his cross of non-violence. Despite their absence from the struggle, these gutless, spineless lackeys of the white power structure had the gaul to refer to the black freedom fighters as "hoodlums and punks." The demonstrations could never have gained the momentum they did without the support of the entire black community. It is this misreading of the intent of the Black Revolution that will lead to the blood bath that is yet to come.....Ours may well be the sacrificed generation.

To the violent revolutionary, reform is a crumb thrown from the table of privilege -- a bribe and nothing more. Secretly and sometimes not so secretly he prefers that reforms fail so that the ineluctable evils of the system will be seen more clearly and the cataclysm hastened. Impatient with talk of means and ends, utterly alienated from the system (who wishes to be integrated into a sinking ship? he asks) at times he seems motivated by nothing so much as pure revenge. Asked what he hoped to gain by stalling cars at the World's Fair, one stall-in leader commented: "Black men are suffering, why should white men enjoy themselves?" Sometimes the lust for martyrdom is explicit: ". . .the black man, having had enough," says Liberator, "is prepared to die so that he may not live as a dog." Any who doubt that this nihilism can be disguised in eloquent talk from impressive and available traditions (enter here the Maoists, et al.) underestimate the ingenuity of writers and the desperation of the desperate.

Extremism of this sort is dangerous not simply because it threatens the peace, but also because it could misdirect the whole integration movement. And, more and more, extremists set the pitch and tempo of thought and expression within the movement, monopolizing the reading matter, appealing especially to the young, whose zeal and honesty is a precious resource.

We cannot wish extreme thoughts nor extremist elements out of existence. But what a travesty on sincere effort if not a single magazine appeared from the movement to provide space, now absent, where reformers, both radical and moderate, could demonstrate that desperation is not a program and that cynicism is an unacceptable philosophy. The extremist fears reformers far more than reactionaries. Reactionaries behave as predicted and he is grateful for the ammunition; reformers steal his thunder and his constituency, which is why communists have always hated socialists far more than capitalists. This magazine will help the movement fight enemies of progress on all sides.

Will the magazine proposed be responsible? Yes, if we can agree on what we mean by "responsibility." If we mean: "for God's sake keep your people quiet," which is to say, "be responsible for protecting the peace of mind of the white community," then we will not get it. Being human, most civil rights leaders will be responsible only when conditions teach them with perfect clarity how much their cause loses through irresponsibility. And they will learn this only in the midst of a movement achieving now and in every likelihood tomorrow all this country has to offer. Men with nothing to lose are not responsible. Men who do not know what there is to be gained are not responsible. This magazine, appearing in the midst of the movement, continuously thinking America through, optimistic (though sometimes only in the last analysis) about the prospects for reform, will make clear the thousand things that are to be done and won today and tomorrow. Hopefully it will make clear, simply by being persuasive, that there is too much at stake to risk irresponsibility. It will, in brief, be a magazine responsible not to the white man's peace of mind but to the black man's immediate and ultimate good. And these, it will convince all concerned, can be the same thing.

Will the magazine preach unity? The factionalism of the movement is notorious and beyond it are important differences of outlook and temperament. The magazine will not foster bogus unity (or meretricious contention), but this much unity is possible and necessary: those who differ can agree to disagree and acknowledge thereby that their cause is one. They can share experiences and this is woefully lacking as all the civil rights groups testify. We prefer the term "focus" to "unity." By surrounding differing views with its two covers, the magazine will focus the consciousness of the movement and help concert its energies.

To sum up, the remarkable depth of feeling in the movement is not being matched by a corresponding depth of thought. Quite obviously the movement, and behind it the Negro community, lacks a strong tradition of written inquiry and debate, as thoughtful persons in the movement acknowledge quite openly. But if there is no strong tradition, we can begin now to build one. Meanwhile what writing there is in the movement -- and we cannot over-emphasize the distinction between the writing in the movement and the writing outside it -- has almost been monopolized by extremists. To elucidate the possible, to strengthen a needed tradition, to answer the trouble-makers, to empower acts with thought, we propose this magazine.

Who will write for the magazine?

Journalists, professors, experts, theorists, creative writers, critics, civil rights leaders and their spokesmen, men in the street. Every established writer in the field that we have spoken with has expressed high enthusiasm for the magazine and a willingness to write.

We aim to attract new as well as established writers. Herbert Hill, editor of an anthology of Negro writers, Soon One Morning, tells us that in preparing his book he received literally hundreds of manuscripts from young Negro writers, most of them in southern colleges, hungry to appear. Many showed significant talent. We shall search them out, perhaps establish prizes to encourage their work.

The tradition of written discourse in the Negro community is not strong and one of our aims is to strengthen that tradition. One method of coaxing thoughtful men who do not write to write is through interviews designed to elicit the strongest possible formulation of their opinions. Occasionally our staff will prepare these articles in conjunction with the writers.

In the files of every civil rights organization lies a large, untapped literature of self-expression by the everyday people of the movement: a short essay sent with the check; a passionate letter protesting a statement or policy by a national leader; a diary from Mississippi. Anyone close to the hundreds of thousands of people in the movement will testify to their deep need to talk out their quandaries and trumpet their triumphs. We shall tap this source and orchestrate the magazine with comment from "people."

There should be no difficulty in getting "outside" contributors. One purpose of the magazine is to encourage people in the movement to hear out opinions, even advice, from the outside. Advice is cheap, of course, and easily escaped, but in a magazine of this sort it may be heard.

So, honestly concerned and intelligent "outsiders" will be printed. Some delicacy and tact will be necessary here; we aim to be delicate and tactful.

Writing for this magazine will be a new kind of occasion for writers. The magazine is not simply about the movement, but of it and for it. In a legitimate sense the movement for equal rights will happen in the magazine, and all articles appearing there will be happenings and not merely entertainments. Writers who contribute will know that when they speak here, a part of the world which matters to them will reverberate directly from their words and we feel this will be exceedingly attractive to writers, old and new, who are weary of writing always for other intellectuals and sundry passive readers.

Who will read the magazine?

The question is not only who? but how many? Besides the ubiquitous and invisible general reader we see six categories of potential readers:

(1) Those in the movement, both leaders and intelligent followers. They will read the magazine as a source of ideas and background and find in the reading an opportunity to deepen their understanding of what they do. Just counting the membership in the major civil rights organizations, this group numbers well over 600,000.

(2) Thoughtful people in related activities: local and national civil liberties organizations; local fair housing groups; countless groups working in related civic affairs; church groups and churchmen.

(3) Professors, editors, writers, university and local libraries. (With the help of local organizations we think we can persuade a large number of local public libraries to take and display the magazine.).

(4) College students. This is an especially fruitful market. For a very large number of college students -- and what will be a larger number -- this is the cause of causes. There are numerous college organizations doing civil rights work locally; participation in the Freedom Summers will increase; and the students participating in these activities should provide a very heavy return on our request for subscriptions. Then there are some 75,000 young people in Negro colleges for many of whom the magazine will be especially important. We shall make special efforts to reach these students.

(5) Habitual readers of liberal journals (New Republic, Nation, New Leader, Reporter, Progressive, Commentary, Commonweal, et al.), a group numbering over 350,000.

(6) There are many college educated, middle class Negroes not accounted for above who could buoy circulation. Appeals to their status and education should attract their interest, perhaps later their efforts.

In addition, the magazine will make articles readily available for re-publication in the Negro press. In this way we will not only extend our influence but we can also provide articles of high quality and interest to a press badly in need of such articles.

From this market we feel certain we can build to a minimum circulation of 35,000 in two years; this is a considerable number for a magazine as serious as this and enough to sustain the magazine with only a small yearly subsidy. The circulation cannot begin to reflect the impact such a magazine will have on opinion makers and policy makers, educators, writers.

Sponsorship.

The magazine will be called FREE AND EQUAL, A Monthly for the Movement. It is sponsored by the CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc., a tax exempt and completely autonomous organization. Money donated to the magazine through CORE SEDF will be tax exempt.

The magazine will be an independent monthly serving as a forum for the entire movement. It will not front for any single civil rights organization and is committed beforehand to no single philosophy or tactic.

Understandably, many have wondered whether the magazine would be a CORE organ, and we did not receive endorsements from the major civil rights leaders until we allayed their fears on this score. What we said to them we can repeat here:

(1) CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc. is not in any way a branch of CORE and, more important, it would fight like a mother tiger to defend its tax exemption. If FREE AND EQUAL were to become a CORE organ its exemption would be threatened; but a non-partisan journal of the sort proposed here is a perfectly legitimate activity under its charter. The subject has been covered in a legal memorandum prepared by Mr. Michael S. Barron, Esq. of Marshall, Bratter, Greene, Allison & Tucker, New York, for CORE SEDF.

(2) The magazine itself would contain only a statement of sponsorship by CORE SEDF, on the inside of the front cover, and a statement of aims which establishes the editorial independence of the magazine and the board of editors. There would be no other mention of CORE's parenthood.

(3) The editorial board represents a wide diversity of positions within the movement and we have satisfied each member of the board that his outlook would be respectfully treated and continually represented.

Editorial Board and Editors.

In assembling this editorial board we have sought people willing to participate actively in designing the content and relative emphasis of each issue. They would be themselves writers and frequent contributors; they would be useful for their contacts and willing to persuade attractive writers to write for the magazine. We sought a diversity of viewpoints representing the principal viewpoints and organizations in the movement.

We congratulate ourselves that we have satisfied our own requirements excellently. The editorial board will include:

1. Alexander J. Allen: Executive Director of the Urban League of Greater New York. President of the National Associations of Intergroup Relations Officials (NAIRO).

2. Ralph Ellison: Perhaps the pre-eminent novelist among American Negroes. Author, Invisible Man. Literary critic, jazz critic, and commentator on the American scene.

3. John Morsell: Assistant Director, NAACP.

4. Pauli Murray: Lawyer, poet, and distinguished writer. She is now on the faculty, Yale University Law School. A Ford Fellow writing on roots of the American race problem. Author, State Laws: Race and Color, Proud Shoes (autobiography), Dark Testament.

5. Saunders Redding: Distinguished historian. Professor (on leave), Hampton Institute. Currently visiting research professor, Duke University. Author of over ten books including The Lonesome Road, On Being a Negro in America.

6. Bayard Rustin: So-called "Socrates of the movement." Free-lance organizer and philosopher and one of the most influential men in the movement.

7. Lillian Smith: Distinguished novelist and essayist. Author, Killers of the Dream, Strange Fruit, Our Faces are Words (a forthcoming study of the civil rights movement in the South).

8. George Wiley: Administrative Director, National CORE. Professor, Syracuse University.

9. Howard Zinn: Associate Professor of Politics, Boston University. Author, The Southern Mystique, and a history of SNCC. He was active in the student movement in the South and has taught at southern Negro colleges.

One of the aims of the magazine is to sponsor debate. We have satisfied members of the board that their own viewpoints and, where applicable, their particular organizations will be fairly served. Obviously we could not give them a veto over any article; that could only bring paralysis. What we have done is assure them that they may help prepare an answer or corrective to any article they believe unwise or mistaken.

The final decision as to what shall and shall not be published rests with the editors. It will be the duty and self-interest of the editors to maintain the trust of all segments in the movement.

There will be two editors. They have not been associated with any one organization; they are skilled and informed men who aim to provide the service of editorial midwife to the civil rights movement. They are:

Mr. Albert Murray: Novelist, essayist, critic. Undergraduate education at University of Michigan, University of Chicago, Northwestern and Tuskegee. He received a degree from the last named institution.

M.A. in English, N.Y.U. He taught English at Tuskegee and then entered a career in the U.S. Air Force where he set up education programs and lectured all over the world. He is now a Major, Retired. He has published short stories, essays, and critical pieces in such magazines as Life, New Leader, and in the celebrated volume, New World Writing. He has done work in the theater and has done drama reviews on the television program, The World at Ten.

Dr. Jacob Cohen: Historian and social theorist. He taught for three years in the history department at Yale University and four years at Brandeis University. His specialty: the history of American Liberalism, the history of the American Negro. He has written articles in the Nation, Dissent, New Leader, Commonweal, Midstream, Jewish Frontier, as well as in the academic journals. Two books are to be published shortly: W.E.B. DuBois: Theorist for the Black Revolt (Schocken); Through Liberal Glasses Darkly (Random House).

How much money must be raised to sustain the magazine?

We expect the magazine to live forever; but let us be pessimistic and assume a life of only three years, in which time the magazine will have done an important service and more than justified its own existence. How much of a subsidy would be necessary to assure a life of three years?

I. Costs for the first year.

A. What the magazine will spend for what the reader gets.

1. Cost of printing the magazine: 25,000 copies; 40 pages, 8¼ x 10 3/4, self-cover, 50# offset stock. Estimate from Rapid Service Press, 375 Broadway, Boston 11, at 2500 per month . . . . . $ 30,000

2. Editorial content: payment to contributors, art work; does not include editors' salaries at 1500 per issue. 18,000

3. Salaries of editorial staff and cost of maintaining office:

Co-editors	$ 16,000
Copy editor	6,500
Secretary	4,500
Total	$ 27,000

Office overhead: rent, office equipment, supplies, telephone costs, postal costs (not including cost of distributing magazine) . . . 8,000

TOTAL. . . . $ 83,000

B. What the magazine will spend to find and interest readers and get the magazine to him.

1. To find and interest him: mail, newspaper and magazine advertising. (We shall have access to several lengthy and potentially fruitful mailing lists.). . . . . $ 30,000

2. Cost of sending the magazine to subscribers and potential subscribers 9,000

3. Salaries:

Part-time business manager.	5,000
Part-time clerical helper	2,500
(Editorial and business offices will be combined, the editorial secretary will be available.).
TOTAL COST FIRST YEAR	$129,500

Assuming that the yearly budget will be the same in the second and third years, $129,500, the total costs for two years would be $259,000, for three years $388,500.

The magazine will cost $388,500 for three years, but there will be some income from the magazine. For safety we should estimate modestly, on the low side. As a minimum we expect to build to a circulation of 35,000 in two years. But let us figure upon a circulation much smaller than 35,000. In addition, there will be some advertising: some of it from advertisers who wish to reach the market created by the magazine; some of it from parties who wish to demonstrate their sympathies with the general aims of the magazine.

I. Income in the first year.

A. Assuming an average sale of 8000 copies a month at $5.00 a year . . . . . $ 40,000

B. Assuming advertising revenue at $1000 per issue, then. 12,000

TOTAL $ 52,000

II. Income in the second year.

A. Assuming an average sale of 12,000 copies at $5.00 a year. . . . . $ 60,000

B. Assuming an average advertising revenue at $1500 per issue. 18,000

TOTAL $ 78,000

III. Income in the third year.

A. Assuming an average sale of 20,000 copies a month at $5.00 a year. . . . $100,000

B. Assuming advertising revenue at $1500 per issue 18,000

TOTAL $118,000

- Assuming that there would be no revenue in the first year, the subsidy necessary for the first year's operation would be $129,500

- Using the first year's income to meet the second year's budget, the subsidy necessary for the second year is . . . . . $ 77,500

- Again, using the second year's income to meet the third year's budget, the necessary subsidy amounts to . . . . . $ 51,500

TOTAL SUBSIDY TO SUSTAIN THREE YEARS OF PUBLICATION	$258,500
And for a fourth year, a balance of . . .	$118,000
TOTAL SUBSIDY TO SUSTAIN TWO YEARS OF PUBLICATION	$207,000
And for a third year, a balance of . . .	$ 78,000

Of course, costs often exceed estimates. But we feel we have projected an income low enough so that unexpected costs will be met by expected income.

How much money must be raised to sustain the magazine?

I expect the magazine to live for some considerable time; but let us be pessimistic and assume a life of only three years, in which time the magazine will have done an important service and more than justified its own existence. How much of a subsidy would be necessary to assure a life of three years?

I. Costs for the first year.

A. What the magazine will spend for what the reader gets.

TOTAL.....	27,500

$ 77,500

* In my view the ideal editorial arrangement would include two men, an Editor-in-Chief and a Copy Editor, who could see the magazine to press, work closely with the printers, and, in general, take over the thousand dirty details which need attention when one produces a magazine. In addition, there would be a small, active, and influential editorial board of six or seven members, hunting for and reading manuscripts, and, with the editor, making editorial decisions. Six men payed 1500 dollars a year would account for the 9000 dollars indicated here.

B. What the magazine will spend to find and interest readers and get the magazine to them.

1. To find and interest them: mail, newspaper, and magazine advertising. (We shall have access to several lengthy and potentially fruitful mailing lists..... 20,000

2. Cost of sending the magazine to subscribers and potential subscribers..... 7,000

3. Salaries:

Part-time clerical helper.....	2,500

(Editorial and business offices will be combined, the editorial secretary will be available.)

TOTAL COST FIRST YEAR.....$112,000

Assuming that the yearly budget will be the same in the second and third years, $112,000, the total costs for two years would be, $224,000, for three years, $336,000. This is on the high side for costs will diminish after the first year; but we shall use this figure to be safe.

The magazine will cost $336,000 for three years, but there will be some income from the magazine. Again for safety we should estimate modestly, this time on the low side. As I have said, I believe we can build to a circulation of 25,000 in three years. My optimism on this score is based on the expectation that the magazine will be taken not only by readers but also by friends and workers in the Civil Rights movement. But let us figure upon a circulation much smaller than 25,000. In addition, there will be some advertising: some of it from advertisers who wish to reach the market created by the magazine, some of it from parties who wish to demonstrate their sympathies with the general aims of the magazine.

TOTAL $31,000

II. Income in the Second Year.

A. Assuming an average sale of 10,000 copies, @ $5.00 ..... $50,000

B. Assuming advertising revenue @ $800 per issue..... 9,600

TOTAL $59,600

III. Income in the Third Year.

A. Assuming an average sale of 15,000 copies a month @ $5.00 a year..... $75,000

B. Assuming advertising revenue @ $1000 per issue..... 12,000

TOTAL $87,000

- Assuming that there would be no revenue in the first year, the subsidy necessary for the first year's operations would be $112,000

- Using the first year's income to meet the second year's budget, the subsidy necessary for the second year is... 81,000

- Again, using the second year's income to meet the third year's budget, the necessary subsidy amounts to 52,400

- TOTAL SUBSIDY TO SUSTAIN THREE YEARS OF PUBLICATION..... $245,400

- And for a fourth year a balance of..... $ 87,000

Supplement to the financial prospectus:

The sponsors of the magazine feel it is urgent that the magazine begin publication as soon as possible. Every decision in history is a turning point in some sense, of course, but the decisions of this next year and the following year will be especially crucial in determining what paths the movement for equal rights will take into the future. There is need for the magazine now, or, at least, soon. But this raises some tacky problems:

To assure its life for three years we have estimated we shall need to raise a quarter of a million dollars. (See the financial statement, pages 13-16). Most of the foundations likely to support the magazine have closed shop for summer or are about to; in either case they are not likely to spend mightily now. Thus, to be practical, we shall need to wait until Fall to raise the major portion of the money we need, aiming perhaps at making a persuasive presentation to the first Fall meetings of the various boards. Assuuming that we are successful, it will be January before we see any money and June before we could build and lubricate the machinery of the magazine sufficiently to begin regular publication.

However: if we could raise $25,000, "seed money", by this June, this summer could be put to the production of two pilot issues. Appearing, say, November 1 and December 1, these issues would be distributed, free, to likely subscribers and placed in the hands of policy and opinion makers. Its work routine established, the magazine could begin regular publication in February, with its third issue.

This plan has several advantages. It will, as we say, bring the date of the magazine's first appearance closer by half a year. Then too, the evidence in September of pilot issues well in the works will help convince the foundations that they support something more than an attractive dream. They may appreciate knowing a little more than is customary about a project they are being asked to sustain. Finally, the magazine is its own best advertisement. The distribution of two pilot issues is good business.

Why two issues instead of one? There is a saying in the magazine world that the second issue, not the first, is the hardest. We wish to cross that bridge now, not when we come to it.

CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc., proposes to sponsor an independent monthly magazine, its tentative title FREE AND EQUAL, in which the theory and practise of the civil rights movement, its means and ends, and the silent and subtle issues as well as the public ones, will be vigorously debated.

There will be two co-editors, one to handle articles dealing with theory and broader aspects, the other familiar with action and in touch with hundreds of active leaders. We believe that the men we have in mind are ideal.

Jacob Cohen, assistant professor of history at Brandeis University, who first elucidated the proposal for this magazine, is fully equipped, in our opinion, for the theoretical assignment. ~~Editors' functions cannot be entirely separate; Mr. Cohen knows fact as well as theory in civil rights.~~ As a historian, he has chronicled the movement and has been in close touch with it daily over

Ted Poston of the New York Post is our choice for the editorial assignment centering on action ~~[redacted]~~ in the field. He has long covered civil rights ~~events~~ throughout the United States; his journalistic experience & background is invaluable. ~~[redacted]~~

To assist the editors, it is proposed that there be a part-time editorial board of six, each prominent and competent in a special field of civil rights, to suggest material and writers, act as consultants, read manuscripts and contribute articles.

Selection of subjects and manner of treatment will be the responsibility of the independent editors. CORE SEDF here offers a general description of the magazine and an indication of content, of the kind of question that will form the basis of discussion.

The magazine will be of the movement, and for it. In a legitimate sense the movement for equal rights will happen in the magazine. Its discussions, chiefly interior to the movement, will illuminate it as press coverage and magazines addressed to the general reader cannot. Importantly, some discussions will be addressed to ~~the~~ special publics beyond the movement itself.

34 An experienced New York journalist

The magazine will be argumentative and provocative in the most responsible manner. Negroes will speak their feelings. Men dedicated to integration will disagree on issues and actions in open debate, and will have space to develop second thoughts. The assumptions of the movement will be examined. What must change before America can realize its ideals? Do we understand what we want by initiating a particular change? What do we expect from this or that action? Have we faced and are we willing to accept the consequences of what we do? Why morally, why politically, why historically, must we do what we do?

A substantial assault on some of the methods and motives of the integration movement has already begun; integrationists will need to defend themselves on every hand in public and private discussions. The magazine can clafify purposes by debating the moral basis and logic of actions, and by affording space to thoughtful critics. ~~As opposition to equality in America is increasingly exposed, such discussions debates, in our opinion, are of utmost importance.~~

The broadest ~~area~~ range of views, including that of Malcom X, will be debated, and follies of program exposed. That touchiest of developments, the attempted infiltration of the movement by Communists, and the circulation among civil-rights workers of ~~free~~ various totalitarianism ~~Communist~~ publications, will be faced and aired. What is the danger here? How ~~are Communist ideas disruptive~~ is infiltration destructive) to the movement?

Integration of schools in New York, Boston and Chicago is the kind of issue to which an entire number of the magazine will be devoted. Should widespread "pairing" be accomplished immediately or should this be postponed until substandard schools are improved? Is all the backwardness among Negro children? How many of them are prepared to compete in integrated schools? Will integration without preparation promote failure and disappointment? How valid is the concept of the neighborhood school and what do we lose and gain when we abandon it?

The magazine will provide a chronicle of the equal rights movement, assessing each month's events--demonstrations, court decisions, school board decisions. Which of yesterday's unimportar events have become important? Which of yesterday's apparent triumphs have proved trifles?

In technical and professional journals and government publications an enormous amount of research on the Negro and civil rights is published. The magazine will digest this material, and give prominence to any important new study. There will be continuous examination of poverty and unemployment in America and of the effects ~~proliferation of results~~ in the lives of Negro and white, ~~also of working and proposed policies of correction.~~

Articles, books, editorials and public statements of importance by white critics and the insufficiently informed will be digested and analyzed so that those within the movement may understand the opposing white temper more fully. ~~As~~ when warranted, ~~in the editors' view,~~ ~~white~~ criticisms will be refuted and misapprehensions corrected. ~~These discussions, available to journalists, will help to clarify the thinking of opinion-makers.~~

The new "policy of confrontation," now proposed by some voter-registration workers in Mississippi, deserves open debate. Is it worth courting violence and possible death as the price of the entry of federal troops into Mississippi? Is this the only way to break the Mississippi impasse? Will troops then register voters? After violence, what? After the departure of troops, what?

In light of recent events and the growing desperation of civil rights workers, is this the time to re-examine the principles and practise of non-violence?

Why have Albany, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., been such big civil rights failures? How does a description and analysis of the white power structure illuminate these failures? What mistakes did civil rights leaders make?

Is there a way that the inadequacies of the FBI, especially in the South, can be met? What is the FBI set up to do, what are its responsibilities, where and why does it fail? What kind of federal police presence is needed to protect civil rights workers; what kind of protection is their right? Is a new federal police force a good idea, or at all ~~possible~~? feasible?

Exactly how do the attitudes of the weaker kind of white "liberal," or false liberal, fail the integration movement? What does examination of the false liberal's evasions and excuses reveal?

What is the moral basis of the white person's committment to equality for Negroes? Why has white participation become more vital than ever?

~~In what situations are quotas in jobs and housing justified?~~

Are quotas ever justified, or wise? in jobs and housing

How does the Negro emerge in American history as it is taught in the public schools? What kind of re-writing of American history is in order?

It is hoped that the editors will find, and publish frequently, the work of as yet unknown Negro writers, and of white writers who address themselves to racial matters. The movement is so far woefully under-documented.

Who will read the magazine?

There are seven categories of potential readers:

1) Those devoted to the Negro revolt, leaders and followers. It will be a source of ideas and background for them; in the reading they will deepen their understanding of what their activities mean.

2) Thoughtful people in related activities: local and national civil liberties organizations, local fair housing groups, countless groups working in civic affairs.

3) Members of Congress, of federal, state and local government. Writers, journalists. Men on newspaper, radio and television national news desks.

4) Professors, students. University libraries can be expected to subscribe.

5) With the help of local organizations, many public libraries may be persuaded to subscribe to the magazine, and to display it.

6) Habitual readers of liberal journals--The New Republic, The Nation, The Reporter, Commentary, etc.

7) Many college- educated Negroes. Many middle-class Negroes not actively involved in civil rights.

From this market a circulation of 25,000 can be anticipated in two years, or enough to sustain the magazine with a small yearly subsidy. Its circulation cannot begin to reflect its impact on policy makers, educators, writers. It can be greatly effective with a circulation considerably less than 25,000.

CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc., proposes to sponsor an independent monthly magazine, its tentative title FREE AND EQUAL, in which the theory and practise of the civil rights movement, its means and ends, and the silent and subtle issues as well as the public ones, will be vigorously discussed.

There will be two co-editors, one to handle articles dealing with theory and broader aspects, the other familiar with action and in touch with hundreds of active leaders throughout the country. We believe that the men we have in mind are ideal.

Jacob Cohen, assistant professor of history at Brandeis University, who first elucidated the proposal for this magazine, is fully equipped, in our opinion, for the theoretical assignment. Editors' functions cannot be entirely separate; Mr. Cohen knows fact as well as theory in civil rights.

Ted Poston of the New York Post is our choise for the editorial assignment centering on action in the field. (Marvin, please fill in about Ted Poston).

To assist the editors, it is proposed that there be a part-time editorial board of six, each prominent and competent in a special field of civil rights, to suggest material, act as consultants, read manuscripts and contribute articles.

Selection of subject and manner of treatment will be the responsibility of the independent editors. CORE SEDF offers here a general description of the magazine, and an indication of subject matter.

The magazine will be argumentative and provocative in the most responsible manner. In it, Negroes will speak [redacted] their feelings. Men sympathetic with integration will disagree on issues or actions in open debate, with space for second thoughts. Philosophers and sociologists may specify how America must change before it can realize its ideals.

It is our belief that there will shortly be a substantial assault on the methods and motives of the integration movement, and that integrationists will need to defend themselves on every hand in public and private discussion. The magazine can clarify purposes and explain the moral basis and logic of actions.

It will provide a chronicle of the equal rights movement, assessing each month's events---demonstrations, court decisions, school board decisions. It will discuss which of yesterday's unimportant events have become important, and which of yesterday's triumphs have proved trifles.

In technical and professional journals and government publications an enormous amount of research on the Negro and civil rights is published. The magazine will digest this, and give prominence to any important new study.

It will digest and refute articles, books, editorials and public statements of importance by the insufficiently informed, by those who pretend approval of integration but hedge, and by integration's self-proclaimed enemies.

The magazine cannot avoid unpleasant facts. It may contain honest intrepretation of illiteracy, criminality, poverty and various lacks of initiative in the Negro community. There may also be continuous discussion of poverty in America and the Negro role within it, of the size of this problem and the national capacity to deal with it.

Each issue may contain a thorough discussion of the development ~~then~~ most prominent and provocative in the editors' judgment. Now, this might be integration of schools in New York City. Should widespread pairing be accomplished immediately or should this integration step aside while substandard schools are improved? Are most Negro students now prepared to compete in integrated schools or do we promote failure and disappointment by our eagerness to integrate swiftly? How many Negro parents do not care about integration as much as about quality education? Are they right? (Questions may be assigned to writers of differing views).

An entire issue, except for regular departments, might be given to school integration. The material is vast. The mystique of the neighborhood school needs review. Middle-class parents who hardly know their neighbors' names become moist-eyed at the very mention of the neighborhood school. No doubt there are solid values in a neighborhood school servicing a real community, but how many real neighborhoods, in the ideal sense, are there in this country? What do we lose when we abandon the concept of the neighborhood school? An article might mine the experience of the great rural schools, organized on a regional principle, that have been busing students into towns for years. Someone might comment on the fact that in New York City even the little children of the rich go to private schools by bus.

There might be debate on the new"policy of confrontation," now proposed by some voter-registration workers in Mississippi, in which violence and possible death are to be courted as the price of the entry of federal troops, this, to desperate workers, the only way to break the Mississippi impasse. Questions: Will troops then register voters? After violence, what?

The magazine can debate the broadest range of views, including that of Malcom X, and expose follies of program.

Non-violence may be re-examined in light of recent events, perhaps modified, then reaffirmed.

Discussion of two big failures: Albany, Georgia, and Birmingham, Ala. Why? In this, a description and analysis of the white power structure.

Is there a way that the inadequacies of the FBI, especially in the South, can be met? Discuss what the FBI is set up to do, where specifically it fails, what kind of federal police presence is needed to protect civil rights workers, and is their right. Is a new federal police force a good idea? Or at all possible?

Exactly how do the attitudes of the weaker kind of white "liberal", or false liberal, fail the integration movement? Examination of the false liberal's evasions and excuses.

Discussion of quotas in jobs and housing.

There may be a brace of articles examining the accomplishments and possibilities of various approaches to reform. What will the vote achieve? What can be expected from court decisions? From the passage of the civil rights bill, or its mutillation?

It's hoped that the magazine will find, and publish frequently, the work of as yet unknown Negro writers, and of white writers who address themselves to racial matters. The movement is so far woefully undocumented.

In conclusion: The proposed magazine will differ from press coverage and from magazines addressed to the general reader in that it will be of the movement and for it. In a legitimate sense the movement for equal rights will happen in the magazine. It's discussions will be interior to the movement and will illuminate it as other publications cannot.

Who will read the magazine?

(Take this from Jerry's prospectus, page 12, but add a paragraph to this effect):

Reporters, journalists. Appropriate issues should be sent to members of Congress, to federal and state officials.

Note: Andy said once that this magazine could be effective with a circulation as low as 2500. Want to put that into the prospectus?

MAGAZINE PROPOSAL

CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc. proposes to sponsor an independent monthly magazine, its tentative title FREE AND EQUAL, in which the theory and practice of the civil rights movement, its means and ends, and the silent and subtle issues as well as the public ones, will be vigorously debated.

There will be two co-editors, one to handle articles dealing with theory and broader aspects, the other familiar with action and in touch with hundreds of active leaders. We believe that the men we have in mind are ideal.

Jacob Cohen, assistant professor of history at Brandeis University, who first elucidated the proposal for this magazine, is fully equipped, in our opinion, for the theoretical assignment. As a historian, he has chronicled the movement and has been in close touch with daily events.

An experienced N.Y. journalist is our choice for the editorial assignment centering on action in the field. He has long covered civil rights throughout the United States; his journalistic experience and background are invaluable.

To assist the editors, it is proposed that there be a part-time editorial board of six, each prominent and competent in a special field of civil rights, to suggest material and writers, act as consultants, read manuscripts and contribute articles.

A substantial assault on some of the methods and motives of the integration movement has already begun; integrationists will need to defend themselves on every hand in public and private discussions. The magazine can clarify purposes by debating the moral basis and logic of actions, and by affording space to thoughtful critics.

The broadest range of views, including that of Malcolm X, will be debated, and follies of program exposed. That touchiest of developments, the attempted infiltration of the movement by Communists, and the circulation among civil-rights workers of various totalitarian publications, will be faced and aired. What is the danger here? How is infiltration destructive to the movement?

Integration of schools in New York, Boston and Chicago is the kind of issue to which an entire number of the magazine will be devoted. Should widespread "pairing" be accomplished immediately or should this be postponed until substandard schools are improved? Is all the backwardness among Negro children? How many of them are prepared to compete in integrated schools? Will integration without preparation promote failure and disappointment? How valid is the concept of the neighborhood school and what do we lose and gain when we abandon it?

The magazine will provide a chronicle of the equal rights movement, assessing each month's events -- demonstrations, court decisions, school board decisions. Which of yesterday's unimportant events have become important? Which of yesterday's apparent triumphs have proved trifles?

In technical and professional journals and government publications an enormous amount of research on the Negro and civil rights is published. The magazine will digest this material, and give prominence to any important new study. There will be continuous examination of poverty and unemployment in America and of the effects in the lives of Negro and white.

Articles, books, editorials and public statements of importance by white critics and the insufficiently informed will be digested and analyzed so that those within the movement may understand the opposing white temper more fully. When warranted, criticisms will be refuted and misapprehensions corrected.

The new "policy of confrontation", now proposed by some voter-registration workers in Mississippi, deserves open debate. Is it worth courting violence and possible death as the price of the entry of federal troops into Mississippi? Is this the only way to break the Mississippi impasse? Will troops then register voters? After violence, what? After the departure of troops, what?

In light of recent events and the growing desperation of civil rights workers, is this the time to re-examine the principles and practice of non-violence?

Why have Albany, Georgia and Birmingham, Alabama been such big civil rights failures? How does a description and analysis of the white power structure illuminate these failures? What mistakes did civil rights leaders make?

Is there a way that the inadequacies of the FBI, especially in the South, can be met? What is the FBI set up to do, what are its responsibilities, where and why does it fail? What kind of federal police presence is needed to protect civil rights workers; what kind of protection is their right? Is a new federal police force a good idea, or at all feasible?

Exactly how do the attitudes of the weaker kind of white "liberal", or false liberal, fail the integration movement? What does examination of the false liberal's evasions and excuses reveal?

What is the moral basis of the white person's commitment to equality for Negroes? Why has white participation become more vital than ever?

Are quotas in jobs and housing ever justified, or wise?

How does the Negro emerge in American history as it is taught in the public schools? What kind of re-writing of American history is in order?

It is hoped that the editors will find, and publish frequently, the work of as yet unknown Negro writers, and of white writers who address themselves to racial matters. The movement is so far woefully under-documented.

Who will read the magazine?

There are seven categories of potential readers:

1) Those devoted to the Negro revolt, leaders and followers. It will be a source of ideas and background for them; in the reading they will deepen their understanding of what their activities mean.

2) Thoughtful people in related activities: local and national civil liberties organizations, local fair housing groups, countless groups working in civic affairs.

3) Members of Congress, of federal, state and local government. Writers, journalists. Men on newspaper, radio and television national news desks.

4) Professors, students. University libraries can be expected to subscribe.

5) With the help of local organizations, many public libraries may be persuaded to subscribe to the magazine, and to display it.

6) Habitual readers of liberal journals -- The New Republic, The Nation, The Reporter, Commentary, etc.

7) Many college-educated Negroes. Many middle-class Negroes not actively involved in civil rights.

From this market a circulation of 25,000 can be anticipated in two years, or enough to sustain the magazine with a small yearly subsidy. Circulation cannot begin to reflect its impact on policy makers, educators, writers. It can be greatly effective with a circulation considerably less than 25,000.

Dear Friends:

We received the check for $3,492.40 representing your contribution from First National City Bank on Monday. We are really very pleased and grateful.

Your support permitted us to take some risks and engage in extra efforts in South Carolina during the past week. Jim McCain believes that the defeat of Marshall Parker and the election of Fritz Hollings as United State Senator is do to the Negro vote which we have played a major role in organizing. I do not believe that Fritz Hollings will be a great senator but he will be better than Parker. Further, the Negro community was heartened with this evidence of their influence and importance. I believe that we can build solidly on this foundation.

I am grateful.'

Washington, D.C. 20005

Dear Mr. Hofmann:

Thanks so much for your contribution and for your note. Really, everything is not done in duplicate, though it may appear so from the relatively brief letters that we must all send out. The Eleanor Roosevelt Scholarship Program of SEDFRE is concerned with students who have shown motivation and leadership in the civil rights movement. Our students go to any college or university they think appropriate which will admit them. They tend to be those who have been academically ill prepared and would thus have greater difficulty than most at many of the white school.

Of course the Herbert Lehman Scholarship Fund is designed to provide assistance for Negro students at the newly integrated schools. This is a different program and there is a need for both.

The percentage of Negroes of college age actually in college today is only 4%. This compares with 85% among Jews. The major handicap to Negroes attending college is the lack of funds. Thus, there is a great need for this program.

Mr. Douglas H. Alexander
118 Palmers Hill Road
Stamford, Connecticut 06902

Dear Mr. Alexander:

I want to thank you for your recent and most generous contribution of $100. I have just returned from a workshop in Mississippi. We have been training the local leaders of the Child Development Group of Mississippi (CDGM) in a 22 day program. Under the new OEO proposal, the local leaders will have much greater authority and responsibility. There will be less authority exercised by the Jackson headquarters of CDGM. We have been asked to help prepare the local leaders for their increased responsibilities.

I was very impressed with the quality of the discussion leaders that we had trained. They were the equal of any I had seen in the North a nd far superior to most. They were able to summarize the discussion very well, to solicit and secure comments from those who had not spoken, to rechannel the discussion when it was bogged down. In other words, they were top-notch. The participants in the workshop showed real seriousness of purpose. They were lined up at 6 a.m. when the doors opened and sat through almost fifteen hours of courses in one day with practically no straggling.

There is very much to be done for them, and the nation as a whole, but I thought I would share this hopeful note with you during the holiday season. My best wishes for a good year.

Sincerely yours,

Marvin Rich
Executive Director

Dear Marvin,

Feb. 13, 1968

It is nearly seven years since we met in Washington to prepare for that first Deep South Freedom Ride. (As a result I still ride with the limited freedom that a wheel chair permits.)

Last spring we sold our retirement retreat, 3 acres on a stream and the house that was being built while we were on the ride. With all of the cares of the establishment and of the man who had expected to handle it, it seemed wise to return to the city with its +'s and -'s.

It was a wise choice and we have not regretted it. But it was hard at first. We had hoped that we would both be able to partake of the chances for social action that a big city has. But Fran's older sister, who had spent the 1st year of her retirement with us in Vienna and six years in helping Fran nurse me back to health-save walking equilibrium and tremor, has been living with another sister in another apartment in this building. A month after our arrival she had a recurrence of a carcinoma for which she had had an operation a few years ago. Now further surgery is not advised.

So Fran has been a little busier each week. Now we have an RN 7 nights a week, a retired colleague and apartment mate for decades. a sister (in her 80's but hearty), a sister just older who has gone on leave and a cleaner Mon-Fri to keep house and walk with me when possible.

So you see why we are limited to a token gift. With all good wishes WJF

Dear Walter:

Thanks so much for your note. It was good to hear from you and to know that your spirit is still with it. I do hope that Francis is well.v I know that she must have borne many difficulties.

We have been doing exciting work. At present we are engaged in a training program for the board members of SWAFCA (Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperation Association). This is part of a larger training program for cooperative staff and board members in Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. It is good to deal with people who are making an effort to solve their problems. I get so tired of the philosophical hair-splitting. We have also been involved with training programs for a number of poverty groups, including the Child Development Group of Mississippi.

It was good of you to send the $5 contribution, but don't do it again. This is an affluent society and there are those who have more to give than you.

Cordially,

Marvin Rich

Mr. Norman Thomas,

Dear Sir:— It seems to me that Sedfre is the only logical answer to our race problem. It is with regret that I can not give a large sum toward it, but my allowance is very limited. But God bless all the efforts put forth in this cause, is my prayer.

The enclosed contribution of $100 from Mrs. Thomas R. Morse of Lincoln, Massachusetts was sent to me recently to be forwarded to you. Mrs. Morse said, "Would you please forward the enclosed with a word to the effect that though semi-invalid I am not invalid?" She was offended at the suggestion of recent developments in the Civil Rights movement might have confused or alienated her. She is a marvelous spunky old gal.

I'm sorry that I haven't been able to get down to any board meetings. I congratulate you on the continued success of the program and its ability to gain ever increasing financial support. If there is any specific help I can give don't hesitate to let me know. If a board meeting coincides with another trip to New York, I shall surely plan to attend.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Rich:

I thank you for the letter that you sent me about SEDFRE. However, you may have subsequently suspected my philanthropy or my principles, because my check bounced. I enclose a guaranteed replacement, and ask you to accept my apologies.

It requires some imagination in Vietnam to see a bomb crater as the education of an American child. Every explosion is expensive. The costs of war that I observe are wounds and lamentations. The costs that you observe are stunted minds and urban insurrections.

It has been said that the war in Vietnam is not really war but is politics. Yet the Americans who advise and administer this war, whether military officers or civil servants, are all of them in the tradition of Montesquieu rather than of Mao, and therefore cannot conceive that politics is their business rather than that of the politicians.

The best sort of training that one could have for Vietnam, I think, would be the sort that you are providing for incipient negro politicians. What one ought to know is how to inspire people, how to get them to pull together. Less money could be spent in Vietnam --- less by ten thousand fold --- and more success might be at hand if these Americans who have trained in the navigation of the corridors of the Pentagon and Foggy Bottom were replaced by an underpaid crew of ward heelers and party hacks.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Rich,

Instead of paying back my brother, Ken, the twenty dollars that I owed him, he wanted me to give the money to any good cause that I wanted. At first, I felt that the check should go to some political campaign, but after hearing about the sensitivity training program that mom participated in, last weekend, I decided that SEDFRE is the most worthwhile cause at this time. So... here's my check!

If there ever is another conference like last weekend's that I could take part in, please let me know.

Dear Miss Slater:

Your note and your check were wonderful. We try to bring an element of rationality and order to a very sick society. This is always difficult. We are buoyed by the constant reminders that others are also committed and that they act within their limits.

These reminders are particularly important after yesterday's tragedy. It could have been prevented but too many people were contact with paper promises; two few cared enough to act. I am very grateful to you today for reminding me that some do act.

International Ladies' Garment Workers Union
Local 91
100 East 17th Street
New York, N.Y. 10003

Gentlemen:

I would like to thank you very much for your contribution of $100 to the inter-racial work of SEDFRE.

You will be interested to know that SEDFRE will be providing training for the participants in the Poor People's Campaign. It is our hope that these participants will learn skills which will be of value in their communities in the months and years to come. Thus, when we teach lobbying, we will put it in the larger context of the skills involved in negotiations in the community. I think you will agree that this will serve a very useful and constructive purpose.

We are most grateful to you for helping to make this training program and our other efforts possible. Thanks so much.

Sincerely,

Marvin Rich
Executive Director

Sept. 30, 1968.

Dear Mr. Rich,

Many thanks for sending me the Report on the 1967 Workshops; Mrs. Ruth Singer, a close friend who works with Harlem Parents Committee (Quality Integrated Education) may contact you soon re this.

I requested a Tellers cheque for $ 50.— and will enclose it herewith, it should come in my mail in 1-2 days: — 10-3-68 14 is check.

Do you know anything about James Farmer's campaign? I sent a cheque early in August, promising an additional contribution upon receipt of an acknowledgment (a lot of mail gets lost); on Sept. 17 I repeated my inquiry but have had no reply at all. —

When Julian Bond's name came up at the Dem. Convention + was taken seriously I thought that it might be not be too early to start some sort of Fund (1) that would pour out money toward campaign expenses of promising Negro Candidates for office (perhaps only for higher offices?); it should be non-partisan; there are now quite a number of qualified Negroes who should be supported + encouraged if + when they decide to run. I would welcome any

(1) This could not be at the expense of the scholarship fund or other bequests in my will. No, I am NOT a millionaire by any means although in view of all that should be done NOW I wish I were.

suggestions you might care to make! There is no immediate hurry. I am still hoping that Stokely Carmichael may take work in that field too; he would first have to "live down" his association with Rap Brown and also establish permanent residence, perhaps work with some political party; incidentally, quite a number of Reformer Democrats in my district worked for McCarthy, one was a delegate — although Ryan had been for R. Kennedy. —

Do you know any of the plans mentioned in "Pride", article in Life of Sept. 27, - they have several Self-Help projects already in action + appeal for volunteers + money; I should like to support them; - they give only Tel.-Nos, no addresses. Beyond "E. East Harlem College Student Society", "Lower East Side Action Project", "The Real Great Society", and many other cities.

One Mr. Brady from Antioch College, Ohio, hoped to see me — I could only talk — and listen! - to him on the Tel. this morning; he, too, says Stokely Carmichael is brilliant! He also said there was a so-called "New Party" working towards uniting + paving the way for progressive Negro politic. Candidates (Mrs. Raskin will contact me); do you know more about them?

He thinks they are doing very good work + very little so far about raising funds.

Sincerely
Ernest Hilbert.

I hopefully assume that you can read my handwriting!

Dear Mrs. Siebert:

Thanks so much for your note and for your $50 check. Your continued support heartens us all.

You will be interested to know that Julian Bond will be working with us in a new program of Technical Assistance for Newly Elected Negro Officials. I am enclosing a copy of our proposal on this program. Julian will be working with legislators throughout the country giving them day-to-day advice on practical problems.

I do think a proposed campaign fund for Negro candidates for significant offices would be invaluable. It would be difficult to do, but might well be very worthwhile. I shall discuss it with Congressman John Conyers, Percy Sutton and a few others.

Your handwriting is difficult, but I can make it out. I am not really very close to Mark Raskin and the New Party group. I do not feel that we can afford division of that kind in these very difficult times. There are too many programs which have begun with some hope which would be imperiled if the liberal political forces were defeated. I have been helping out in Jim Farmer's campaign a little bit. I have been giving him advice on direct mail and things of that sort, but I do not know his staff very well. I will contact him about the necessity for acknowledging support.

Thanks so much for your concern.

Dear Mr. Rich,

Many thanks for your letters of Oct. 10 and Nov. 21 both with very interesting enclosures.

To-day's cheque is a promise of a bigger one earlier in January.

I shall be grateful to you for talking about my ideas to anybody you think could give constructive advice, and I should also like you to tell Julian Bond – who inspired it – about it or show him this letter.

I don't remember whether I wrote in my previous letter that I could make a contribution of several thousand Dollars 2) in 1969 and that I would make a bequest in a Codicil to my will when a Fund is established.

I could, if you think it advisable, write to Senator Brooke of Mass; through him (or somebody else)

1) Bayard Rustin (about the news media were now only know that he organized the March in Washington); George Meany, now with AFL-CIO – Julian Bond is too young to have been with him with CORE in the 1940's

the Law Dept. at Howard U. might set up the legal formulation (free of charge ?).

I think a Trust Fund should be established;
Who should be the Trustees ? Who should make decisions on the candidates those campaigns should be supported. Although I mean only Negro candidates it may not be wise or even legal to make this stipulation; the Dr. Viola C. Carter Scholarship fund in my will shall " ... prefer Negro ~~candidates~~ applicants ..." ?
this, however, does not seem applicable to the Campaign Trust Fund.

Some Foundations (Ford etc) will have to be approached for contributions, also some millionaires -- Rockefellers for putting for integration but did something for Negroes (Spelman College, Atlanta U. etc); Kennedys will not support or encourage any political competitors;
besides Robt K. adopted his civil rights pose only recently, I remember him too well as "cooling-off Kandy" + as refusing to send Marshalls for protection of civil rights workers -- his brother Teddy will hardly be more reliable; none of them gave any help to the bus load of "Reverse Freedom Riders" that were sent to Wyoming by some Southern (Sheriffs).

2) Perhaps one of the existing organizations ? (I am allergic to Roy Wilkins !)

While this will take some time + thought, the best time for a good thing is always NOW.

Sincerely E. H. Liebst.

RECEIVED
SEDF

December 31, 1968

SEDFRE
164 Madison Avenue
New York, N. Y. 10016

Gentlemen:

I am enclosing a small contribution for the cause as outlined in the letter from the late and great Norman Thomas. I agree wholeheartedly and wish I could do more than a token contribution -- though I promise more in the coming year.

This past year has been an expensive one for me, both in cash and mental turmoil. I became interested in a local case of racial discrimination and have seen first hand the frustrations which accompany it. We lost, but we won a great moral victory in that we proved discrimination within the Federal Civil Service and no one but the most hard headed can disagree now. We are hoping to get someone from this group to testify at a Congressional hearing under Representative William Ryan of New York - which was scheduled for December, though we have not heard if it has been held or not.

I am not a campaigner, and this is my first try at fighting "City Hall", though I assure you I have not given up. This Cause I believe in, and I want to do everything I possibly can to alleviate the situation. Corvallis is a small University town, with a minimum of racial problems, but I feel there is a need for me someplace. Do you have any advice for me -- a middle aged, middle class white housewife? What can I do to help? I can't sit idly by and see what is happening without doing something.

The use of the word "we" in the second paragraph refers to a group of people here in Corvallis that banded together to get to the bottom of the racial discrimination charges that were made. We called ourselves the "Committee for a Fair Hearing". We number somewhere around 150, though we do not have a membership list. If there is anything a group could do, I am sure that I could count on their support.

There are no local chapters of NAACP, CORE, etc. Perhaps, since this is a University town we might well form a chapter of your organization. What is your feeling?

Very truly yours,

Dear Winnie Bartsch:

Thanks so much for your note, for the contribution and the spirit behind both. It is important to know that there are like-minded people all across the country.

SEDFRE does not have chapters or membership. We are a service organization, providing assistance to local groups. However, while we have sponsored some national workshops, the great bulk of our activities is east of the Mississippi river. We don't want it to be this way always, but we simply do not have the resources to pay the travel bills or to assign staff members to the far west. We trained in California about a year ago, but it was simply impossible to do a good job from this distance. I do hope you understand.

February 7, 1969

Dear S.E.D.F.R.E.:

When I first received literature from you some months ago, at that time signed by NORMAN THOMAS, as I recall, I was impressed with the sincerity and purpose of your organization. So many organizations these days! However, this one especially appealed to me, and I determined that, being eighty years of age, I would like to insure a modest sum being sent to you in case of my death.

This note is written to inquire as tothe present status, and whether a contribution is tax-deductible to the donor. As I recall, I sent a small contribution to you at the time ($10.00 or $20.00), but did not receive a receipt. It was cash I believe, and I am hoping it reached you in due course. I am not questioning that so much as my recollection is sketchy My thought now, however, is whether I may list your organization as tax-deductible & any other information regarding your status quo. I have quite a number of organizations whom I wish to remember in a small way (perhaps $100.00 and would like to hear from you for my list of prowpective donations. I will then feel more certain that it will be welcome and properly applied.

Thanks so much for your recent note. Norman Thomas was a deal friend and a constant source of inspiration. I visited him in his nursing home for advice and counsel constantly.

Contributions to SEDERE are tax deductible to the donor. We received our tax exemption status April 17, 1964. We have received three contributions from you since April 12, 1967. We do not send receipts unless they are specifically requested. This policy saves us postage which we make available for our program.

Dear Jim:

Please forgive the long delay in writing to you, but I wanted to have some news for you of a follow-up of the conference. Plenty is in the air, and I feel that for the first time there is some solidarity among so-called leaders in Beaufort County. The impact of the conference is still being felt and I think will be for a long time.

The public officials, elected and appointed (13) met on March 28, and of the 13, there were 11 present. One woman, the appointed member of the Library Board, is not expected to function because of her age. We had a very good meeting and exciting as well. Each person present gave a sort of report on the agency he is a member of and you would be surprised to know that there to know that there were some very uninformed persons there, and we are supposed to be the politicians (smile). The group decided to meet regularly among ourselves and to hold a series of meetings throughout the county at least every three months to inform our constituents on what's going in the county.

Our most immediate plan is to hold a meeting with all the black ministers who "tap" in the county, whether they are residents or not; many of them live in far-away towns and come on Sundays to preach. That meeting will be held on April 18, the day before Board meeting. I hate to bore you with this, but if you come for the Board meeting, which actually begins on the 18th for committee members, would you attend? Jim McCain has already promised that he will come and we are depending on him to be present on April 18. The meeting will be held at Wright's Chapel and will begin at 8:00 P.M. It would be a real accomplishment to get the ministers partially involved in civic affairs. We are going to give it a try.

The group also decided to revive the Voters League, and the ex-chairman has already been contacted to attend the meeting on the 18th. We feel it important that we should not exclude him since he was elected to serve as chairman, and the organization "died" under his leadership.

The conference was really the best thing that ever happened in Beaufort and Jasper Counties, as far as the black community is concerned. People just can't stop talking about it and I am glad of that. What I was most pleased about was the good attendance, even to the end. Jim McCain did a terrific job on the political aspect, which is always interesting to our people and meaningful as well. Spiver Gordon was somewhat mystic to most and they speak of him and his ESP. It's just fantastic how he probes the mind. He is truly gifted. There was a session in sensitivity for prospective members of the SCCHR in Columbia two weeks ago, and they (we) certainly could have used Spiver. And you, Jim, what would we do if we did not have you? You're just great!

Best to you,

P. S. I will be enjoying the white man's life at the National School Boards Convention in Miami on the 12-15. My superintendent was shocked when I told him that I was going to attend and wanted his office to handle my reservations. It was funny at the end of the conversation he asked me how did I know of the National Convention and I informed him that some friends told me at a conference in Virginia. He said they are delighted that I can attend ---- I bet'.

Negroes Talk Over Leadership Roles

By JAMES T. WOOTEN
Special to The New York Times

PROGMORE, S. C.—James L. Felder was happy about his day's work.

As a field representative for the Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality, he had come to this Atlantic Coast community to organize a leadership training conference for Negroes from two counties.

At the end of the first day, he was satisfied.

More than 100 officials and leaders were participating in the conference and for Mr. Felder and his organizaton, members are important.

On the evening before, they had listened intently as Lucius Amerson told how he had been elected sheriff of Macon County, Ala. That morning the participants had divided into two workshops led by representatives of the defense fund. They had talked about public relations, attitudes and racial awareness, and about the roles and responsibilities they shared as leaders in their communities.

Relations Checked

Now, they were on their way to lunch, and Mr. Felder cocked an ear to the window of the small office to hear their reactions to the first workshop session.

"I'll tell you this, these people from up North got a lot on the ball," a Negro magistrate from Beaufort County was telling his companion as they walked past.

A school superintendent from nearby Jasper County was instructing a young teacher on the virtues of copious notetaking. "What's being said is important and if you don't write it down, you'll forget it and if you forget it, that's very bad."

They were walking from an old conference hall to a nearby cafeteria where the staff of Penn Center had prepared lunch for them. Their conversation drifted across the campus of the old Quaker school that was built after the Civil War to educate former slaves.

"These conferences are strange," Mr. Felder observed. "They can end up being absolutely nothing if you're not careful."

Deep Effect Seen

Apparently, Mr. Felder had been careful for, according to his own evaluations and those offered by the conference participants themselves, the weekend at Penn Center may have a profound effect on the future of Negroes in the area.

Beaufort County is a collection of large islands at the southeastern tip of the state. Negroes constitute about 40 per cent of its 30,000 residents and nearly one-half of its registered voters. In the last three years Negroes have been elected to the Board of Education and the county and city councils, and last spring, two won Democratic primary races for magistrate and were appointed, as is the tradition, to those offices.

But in nearby Jasper County, where the population is predominantly Negro, there are no Negro elected officials. Mr. Felder believes it is because Negro leadership in the community has been both ineffective and fragmented.

'To Get Them Together'

"That's the purpose of this conference—to get them together," he added as he joined the others headed for lunch.

The sun strained through shreds of Spanish moss hanging from giant oak and cypress trees, and as Mr. Felder, a native South Carolinian, walked through the shadow patterns, he talked about the attraction of the region for those who live there.

"This is real pretty country here, O.K.," he conceded, "but more than that, these people are here because it's their home and they want to stay here and make it better."

The defense fund, he explained, tries to help them do just that by exposing them to tested and tried techniques for political success. "You see," he said, "we believe in politics and the power it can transfer to our people."

The conference began on Friday night and ended Sunday afternoon at a cost of about $1,000 to the fund, a New York-based organization subsidized by grants from foundations and from funds earned in contracts from industry for organizing and leading similar training conferences.

Mr. Felder, 29 years old and a former Army sergeant, is a native of Columbia who is a lawyer. He was the noncommissioned officer in charge of the honor guard for President John F. Kennedy's coffin. Now he is director of the defense fund's new program of assistance for newly elected Negro officials. The South Carolina conference was one of dozens already finished and dozens more planned during the coming year.

The fund leaders attempt to train the participants in the mechanics of winning politics, from qualification through campaign to election day procedures.

But here, this weekend, the discussion also took on a general aim.

"The real need of these people," Mr. Felder said, "is to get to know each other as leaders, as Negro leaders. They need to get together often, to cross their organizational lines, to build a black coalition."

Dear friend –

I just got around to reading the March NEWSLETTER on the National School Board Conference which came with an appeal (general) from Julian Bond – dated March 19th.

It was a most impressive report – the kind I like to receive from organizations that I help to support – both from the standpoint of the communication itself & what was being communicated.

Best wishes for your continued growth and many thanks

Sincerely.

Dear Mr.Bond:

While you are doubtless in Georgia, I am addressing this to the New York office hoping that it will be read hthere and passed on to you for definite action.

I am enclosing my small contribution to SEDFRE which is the best I can do as an 81-year old retired minister who has just completed ten years of social work in the slums of this big city.

In return for this contribution I am asking one simple thing from you and your associates in response to your recent letter "Is the Civil Rights Movement Dead?" I am simply asking the cooperation of all of you in the plan outlined which is just one way in which I hope the civil rights movement can be kept alive along with your project and similar ones.

I ask you to have your secretary take the responsibility of caring for a growing plant in your office with the display of the enclosed card to help keep alive the memory and the philosophy of the man I consider the greatest of this century. Furthermore, I hope you will displat such a plant in your home, and that you can persuade other members of your personal staff and of the staff in New York to do likewise. I am prapared to send you sufficient statements and cards for this purpose. All you need to do is sign the simple commitment at the bottom of the statement and return it to me. There is no charge.

Surely many of us can participate in this simple plan to help perpetuate the memory of Dr.King and his philosohpy. Mrs.King is pleased with the idea and we owe it to her as well as to the memory of Dr King.

Hoping I may hear favorably from allof you, I am

2 June 69

Dear Mr. Bond:

I received your letter relative to the civil rights movement. I don't know how you acquired my name, as I have never heard of your organization. However, it sounds very worthwhile.

Your letter came at a good time because a group of co-workers and I have started a $1 per pay savings to help our people. Each month we send monies to what we think are worthwhile causes. Your organization was chosen for the month of May's contributions.

We realize this is not a large amount, considering the vast needs, but we hope this contribution will help fill a small gap somewhere.

I think you are a very intelligent young man and your coverage in last months' Ebony magazine was excellent. I have high hopes of you becoming our first black President. You were marvelous at the democratic convention.

Sincerely Yours,

Gentlemen:

On August 12, 1967, Alice D. Pressey contributed $30.00 to the Scholarship Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality.

The local office of the Internal Revenue Service is claiming that they have no evidence that this item is deductible under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code § 170.

We think that they have taken an unusual hard line, and not withstanding the small amount would like to establish deductibility in this instance.

Kindly advise us of your current situation under the Internal Revenue Code § 501 (c)(c).

Dear Mr. Bond,

Early in June, a contribution in the amount of $45.00 was sent to SEDFRE in response to your request.

This contribution while perhaps small, represented a joint effort of my co-workers and myself to help your organization.

To date, we have not received an acknowledgement.

Acknowledgement at this time would seem appropriate.

I want to thank you and the board of directors of the Howard University Campus Chest for your contribution of $54.81 to our inter-racial work. I hope that we shall continue to be worthy of your support.

For your information, I am enclosing a xerox copy of an article from Business Week which describes the work we are doing with Mayor Charles Evers in Fayette, Mississippi. During this time we have held a workshop for the newly elected officials and have provided a skilled municipal auditor to check the books. Unfortunately, he found that there were in fact substantial departures from Mississippi law. We now plan to provide a solid economic analysis so that Mayor Evers spends his time soliciting the kinds of industries which might in fact move to Mississippi.

We are grateful to you for your understanding and support. Thanks so much.

MRS. ANNA C. DART
7918 OUTLOOK AVENUE
OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA 94605

August 7, 1 9 6 9

Dear Julian:

Please don't be annoyed by my chummy way of addressing you. I saw you on television(which we hardly ever watch) at our Chicago Convention when Humphrey could not rise to the occasion but you showed your good true metal. Being liberal is no longer enough in my book. Witness giving in to the Surtax with no remedy for all the taxpayers who are just sitting ducks for oppression.

Enclosed is $10 and don't ask for more for quite a while. We have my teacher's pension and share Social Security and I am now sending as I do about twice a year, $25 each to the Southern Patriot and to Abernathy, a brave man who sent out a magnificent letter about their achievements. He is of heroic stature doing all he can to fill the great loss of MartinLuther King. Although I am an old white woman of 80, who has taught 30 years in California public schools, I have about come to the conclusion that the Liberals, even some very good ones in the Senate and House cannot give us back our democracy because Liberals yield to the enemy (MILITARY-INDUSTRIAL-COMPLEX) just about when they could win as in that ugly Surtax business with no relief for us the taxpayers practically being driven out of our homes. It will take the good blood & bone and courage of the thousands of Negroes new in the fight, really willing to give their all, as most of the more effete whites are not.

If this sounds as if I am one more "Whitey" saying "Let the Negroes do the suffering," it is not true. I have not fought, nor been in prison, but my Quaker ancesors in Phila where I was born and raised, did suffer and serve and go to jail to carry on the UNDERGROUND RAILROAD. I was raised in an Unitarian church and three times at least heard Boker Washington and his Jubilee singers. Of course his ways are far bypassed now but I don't like him entirely put by. Also, I married a man who spent four years in jail, (expecting the first few months to be "Shot at dawn" for refusing to go into World War One) Gave himself up saying "It isn't my war and I won't kill anyone." Ilost my Oakland teaching job but had another. We have been happily married almost 50 years. So sometimes I have helped to pay the price.

Most cordially yours,

Anna C. Hart

Your letter also is very effective. I am sending it and mine recent one from Abenathy to McGovern who may or may not have seen either.

Dear Sir:

I have received your pamphlet on "A New Program to Assist Newly Elected Negro Officials." On the inside of the front cover are the words: "Contributions to the Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund for Racial Equality are tax deductible."

I took my contribution off on my last ~~tax~~ income tax form, but have been told that the contribution would not be allowed. This is what the Internal Revenue Service agent has told me. He has given me time to find out more about this, so can you send me soon a copy of your permission from the U.S. Treasury Dept., Internal Revenue Service to allow such contributions as deductions from income taxes of contributors.

I want to continue to give to your organization, so I would appreciate very much getting this cleared up. My contribution was not large--$100.00--but probably others of like sums have had this same question come up.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mrs. Wilson:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you very much for your recent and generous contribution of $200 to the inter-racial work of SEMFRE.

For 4 days late in September and in early October, we provided training for the newly elected Chief of Police in Tallulah, Louisiana, Zelma Wyche and his 14-man police force. The force consists of 7 blacks and 7 whites, and there were two sessions daily, one for the night shift and one for the day shift. We are also helping him to develop a proposal for federal assistance to up-grade the equipment of the police force.

We are grateful to you for your support and understanding. Thanks so much.

Sincerely,

Dear Friends:

Henry Austin has made a contribution to our inter-racial work in the name of your son Ronald. He must have been an unusual person. It is difficult to contemplate the nature of man and the way in which we abuse ourselves and our heritage.

Yet, there are those who are committed to constant effort to do the best we can with what we have, not only for ourselves, but for others as well.

I am enclosing check - endorsed to your Fund - in the amount of $10 - Good Luck.

I am making the following comment with the full realization that at this "stage of events" there may be no other alternative, but the thought does occur that it would be so much better and so much more effective perhaps, if more of the separate agencies could combine. Particularly if the functions for which the donations are solicited are similar.

With so very many solicitations, it is impossible to donate an amount one would like to give in each case; the bottomless horn was the property only of the mythical Thor. When one works for a living there is a definite bottom to the money pocket.

Attention: Julian Bond:

You have received your last check from me. I am deeply interested in the cause you represent and have contributed regularly but you not have things organized so that a contribution is quite ignored and every week or two I get a duplicate appeal.
First I want my contribution to go to the cause for which I send it not to a mass buckshot mailing of dulpicate appeals.
Second it is an insult when one realizes that a sincere gift is totally ignored and spent for other purposes.

Very truly

Ernest W. Barnes

has for years given to the NAACP and the United Negro College Fund and other helpful causes. I belonged for many years to the NAA and helped one man in our area, who is now a judge, to get his start in public life, but I quit giving to the NAA when Roy Wilkins left the high road and, though the head of this great organization, tried to make it the political instrument of one party.

I assume from the tax exempt status you state for donations that you are really keeping your organization nonpolitical and thus giving it its only chance of lasting success. Your letter is an excellent one, but I have had so many Julian Bond letters come in the mail of late that I hesitate in sending even a token donation because it would appear that it will be used, not for the stated purpose, but for soliciting me and others further.

I have been retired now for many years, but would appreciate a note indicating the nonpolitical nature of your endeavor.

Yours very truly,

SEDFRE

Dear Mr. Bond:

This is in response to your recent form letter asking for financial support of your program, "SEDFRE". I am delighted to be able to enclose my check though only for $5.00 since I happen to be a bit short of cash and will be for some months. I will set up a file on your organization and trust that I will remember it among a number that I have assisted in financing for years and make a much larger contribution later and would like to make a pledge of monthly or annual support thereafter.

I have long wanted to see a primarily black organization set up along the very constructive lines that are set out in your letter. Although I am not a socialist I thoroughly subscribe to the statement of Norman Thomas printed on the back of your envelope sent me.

I have realized for a long time that the most depressed people must be the moderates, both black and white that for years have been working steadily and slowly but steadily gaining ground on the power to obtain political and economic parity for the black man. Of course the tendency of so many black people toward the attempt to force the extension of civil and economic rights by violence is doomed to failure from the beginning and in the meantime has been a great source of satisfaction to the segregationists who have long said that if you give any of the black men any privilege or advances at all he is sure to want the "whole cheese".

What has been so badly needed is the very kind of organization you are setting up and I certainly wish you every success and if you should have any particular needs for additional funds, please put me down on the list of people that would be willing and able to respond with legal assistance or money in such a situation.

Most sincerely yours,

Milton K. Higgins

December 5, 1969

Mrs. Henry Edgerton
2925 Glover Driveway, N.W.
Washington, D. C. 20016

Dear Mrs. Edgerton:

As the new year approaches, we have taken this opportunity to reflect soberly on our past programs. Reaffirming SEDFRE's commitment to bring about constructive change, we have also considered the relative needs of the communities we serve. This has resulted in a number of important program changes for the year ahead. They include:

1) Tripling of the Technical Assistance Program to Newly-Elected Officials, especially through greater use of experienced public servants holding similar positions elsewhere. Our work with Mayor Charles Evers in Mississippi, Police Chief Zelma Wyche in Louisiana and the School Board Seminars are the hopeful nucleus of an effort which must be expanded from $70,000 last year to $220,000 in 1969-70.

2) Increasing the qualitative training of Black Rural Cooperatives in the South. This past year--our peak--involved the training of 4,800 rank-and-file members of coops. This year, we seek to intensify our training of the coop policy makers--board members and staff.

3) Expanding our Neighborhood Action Institute in Gary, Ind. which has been working with Mayor Richard G. Hatcher. This year we shall concentrate on activities for white and black youth. The Gary experience may well have widespread applicability for combating racial polarization in other tense cities.

To achieve these and related objectives, SEDFRE's budget will have to increase from $575,000 to $750,000. In dollar terms that is substantial; related to national needs and priorities, it is quite modest.

As you think about your own end-of-the-year giving, I hope you will consider a significant gift to SEDFRE's work. As you know, the cost of making a gift in 1970 will increase because of changes in the tax law. This consideration aside, I earnestly hope you will demonstrate your confidence in SEDFRE because we are doing an important job and doing it well.

It is a wrench to give up support for causes that mean a great deal to us. But for the time being - we are out of the contributory market.

Sincerely,

Marvin Rich

Dear Rev. Barnes:

We have checked our records and find that we received on 6/11/69 a $10 contribution mailed byyou on 6/7/69. As our envelopes indicate, we do not send out receipts unless they are specifically requested. This is a small way of saving some money for our field programs.

The only way an organization such as ours, which depends upon public support, can grow is by soliciting support through the mail. To do this, we must use the list of those organizations and publications which share the same general point of view. It is only these lists in fact which produce significant names and money for our field program. Almost be definition, therefore, the best list is one which has some duplications.-- people who have already given or who are on the list of other similar organizations.

I do want to assure you, however, that we watch the percentage response and the dollar return very carefully. We make small tests before making larger appears.

We do not secure major grants from the government, nor are we assured of a tithe. We are dependent upon the goodwill and the understanding of those who feel as we do about the need for constructive change, reconciliation and honest growth in our society.

Sincerely yours,

Marvin Rich

The only way an organization such as ours, which depends upon public support, can grow is by soliciting support through the mail. To do this, we must use the list of those organizations and publications which share the same general point of view. It is only these lists in fact which produce significant names and money for our field program. Almost by definition, therefore, the best list is one which has some duplications - people who have already given or who are on the list of other similar organizations.

I do want to assure, you, however, that we watch the percentage response and the dollar return very carefully. We make small tests before making larger appeals.

We do not secure major grants from the government, nor are we assured of a tithe. We are dependent upon the goodwill and the understanding of those who feel as we do about the need for constructive change, reconciliation and honest growth in our society.

Sincerely yours,

Marvin Rich

CHRISTMAS 1969 NEW YEAR 1970

To All Our Friends:

Back in school days, we learned that each year has four seasons. With the passing of time, we have grown to respect the fact that there really is a fifth season --- the tender, joyous, heart-warming season of Christmas.

It is the season of peace and good will that opens with the Lights of Hanukkah and continues into the New Year with its message of joy and good cheer! It is the time of sharing our sentiments of happiness with others, especially those with whom we have had association in business and those whose lives could be brightened by a little thoughtfulness and assistance.

That is why we of Roncari Industries address this message to you. We want you to know that you are part of our Christmas, that we deeply appreciate your friendship and patronage, and that we are equally sincere in our hearty wishes that this Christmas will be a joyous one for you.

We want to remind you, too, that again we are adhering to the growing custom in our trade of foregoing the usual Christmas remembrances. Again we will channel the money ordinarily spent in this way to the distribution of funds, food, and clothing to deserving families, to hospitals, and to religious groups. It is our method of making their Christmas a happier one. In this, you share with us.

To you, we extend every wish for a happy and blessed Christmas and a New Year that will bring you a wealth of good health and happiness.

Sincerely In The Spirit of Christmas,

RONCARI INDUSTRIES, INC.

I am afraid that people there still have much to learn if the enclosed clipping is true. It seems to me that the sole function of a local government with respect to marriages is to keep the records of marriages (along with those of births & deaths) but not to promote or discourage marriage or to discharge or refuse to hire people because of their marital states.

I would have no desire to live in Fayette, but it seems to me that such a choice has to be made by the individuals themselves. Please return clipping.

Dear Charlie:

Thanks so much for your recent letter and your contribution of $1000 to SEEDFRE.

What can I say? I think you know that I agree about the role of a community with regard to marriage. However, I believe it is still important that Evers as well as the other newly elected officials throughout the south be supported. We cannot tell them what to do, but only give advice when it is asked for. It is frustrating and difficult at times. Yet, it has its rewards.

You will be interested to know that one of our scholarship students, Addie Sue Brown, got her MsW on December 21st. On December 22nd she went to work for the Urban League of Essex County on a health participation program. As a high school student she had been active in COFO in Meridian, Miss. with Chaney and Schwerner. Her principal had told her that she would never go to college if she did not drop the movement. She stuck with it. Her mother is a domestic and has never earned more than $12.50 a week. Her father is not in the home. In August she was very active in planning and staffing the Black and Puerto Rican Convention in Newark. She has commitment and dedication.

In spite of the Nixon administration, I have some hope that the new year will be a little better for all of us. My best to Hilda.

SEDFRE

• 164 MADISON AVENUE • NEW YORK, N. Y. 10016

January 28, 1970

Dear Friend:

I am writing to you as one of the committed minority -- the growing number of Americans, young and mature; black, brown and white -- engaged in the difficult business of turning newly-won rights into real improvements in the everyday way people live.

The "movement" has moved swiftly indeed -- with such speed and vigor that newly enfranchised minority-group voters are sending to office their own mayors, sheriffs, school board members, and state legislators like myself.

Stepping into public office with no previous experience is a real trial by fire. I lived through a period of bewilderment, despair and searching. I vowed then to do all I could to make things a bit easier for the others all around the country who would soon be seeking the know-how they need to represent their communities effectively.

My own personal efforts can, of course, reach only a few of the growing corps of black and Spanish-speaking new officials. That's why SEDFRE and its program of Technical Assistance for Newly Elected Officials is made to order for the movement and where things are at today. Each year I find new reasons to be proud of my association with this deeply committed interracial group, providing needed services to the movement for civil rights and economic justice.

Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette, Mississippi, describes in full detail just how SEDFRE helped him acquire the skills he needed from the moment victory was announced. Read it, and you will begin to appreciate how practical SEDFRE assistance can be.

SEDFRE works in many regions, with many people: Mexican-American school board members in five Southwestern states...Mayor Richard Hatcher's administration in Gary, Indiana...Zelma Wyche, Louisiana's first black sheriff...citizen-leaders of cooperatives scattered throughout the South...men and women working through community-action groups in the urban North.

I cannot urge you strongly enough to lend SEDFRE your support. Learning to plan a budget or secure a Federal grant may not seem dramatic or glamorous. But the hard ABC's of government are the next item on Freedom's agenda. We who must learn in a hurry are counting on each of you who can to help us.

We of the committed minority must continue to speak, act and give of ourselves for justice and equality, towards an America no longer divided. You can help today. Give generously now to SEDFRE.

Sincerely,

Julian Bond

Sed free, 25-70

I would be glad to support this cause as I have many other causes, to the extent of $25-50 to year.

However, I understand the costs of collection on some of these funds is so high that a rather small percentage of the amount collected goes to the work we want done.

This would be particularly true where small collections, such as mine would be involved.

It seems to me it would be a wonderful idea if there was a law declaring all causes asking for contributions should be required to furnish a statement showing what part of each dollar was used to actively further the work.

Also I believe the $350-450 I contribute had better be donated in sums of $100-$150 thus costing less to the organization using it.

I am not sending any money to any organization but putting it into a savings account until this question is solved to my satisfaction.

Your cause does seem an extremely worthy one and I am keeping your literature & envelope in case I decide to send you a contribution later.

Thank you

HISTORY TEACHER AS POET

by Dick Crosscup

THE INTERWEAVING POETRY OF AMERICAN HISTORY by Sherwood Trask.

Pageant Press, Inc., New York

(Sherwood Trask, now retired, taught at Walden for many years. He was a gifted teacher. His creative thinking and warm personality combined to enrich the lives of his colleagues and students.)

Sherwoods Trask's 27 years of teaching at Walden were important because he brought to that teaching a poet's vision of man and history.

As a history teacher and historian, he tended to think like a poet; and this used to annoy me for I felt then that he offered association, metaphor and symbol, where he ought to offer causation. But I am older now, and as I read his poetry in "The Interweaving Poetry of American History", I see that his patterns of association, metaphor and symbol are a truer and deeper vision of men and history than our all too uncertain concepts of cause and effect. The causes of conflict among Frankish barons or between South and North dwindle into relative insignificance before the images of meaningless carnage as in this conclusion to a part of a long poem in a section of the volume called Raw War.

Look, women retainers,
Through the squinters' slits !
At the heaps on heaps on heaps,
Wriggling here and there like ripe cheese,
But most upward glancing,
From water,
Ophelia eyes in the moats,
Poor old frog eggs.

Sherwood's poetry in this new work transcends whatever we have known of him. Yet in poetic method, Sherwood is very much the colleague and teacher we have known. His mind is like a rushing wind, or like an instrument played by a rushing wind. His poetry is not the controlled poetry of such 20th Century poets as Yeats or Wallace Stevens or — among the free verse writers — H. D. Sherwood is voluble in the Whitman tradition. But whereas Whitman's ear is tuned to the cadences of rhapsodic prose, Sherwood's ear is equally tuned to the echoes of the traditional rhymes and rhythms of English verse. But only to the echoes — for in Sherwood's writing, these rhymes and rhythms crowd one another, rhythm leading to rhythm, rhyme leading to association, association to another rhyme. Out of a kind of chaos of method emerges the artistic order of his vision, as in this passage from "Civil War in America":

Lad, drum.
Your chum shall not return tonight —
Lad, drum.
The petulant trees in the whiskered wood
Hung with gray, with gloom, with birdnest stuff
Have had enough
Of your soggy-skinned drum
And of the hum of bullets.
The pullets of Alligator Pete have had enough,
The whole fraternity has had enough,
Is gruff,
Grimy at the chin,
On the skin,
At the thin bank
Of the dank inlet
. . . . . .
On the chin, on the skin,
In the very sin of these armies
Things begin to show,
Make woe, Ingrow.

The "Interweaving Poetry of American History" is not marred by the over-simplified affirmativeness of much American social poetry — for example, it is hardly a volume that could be labelled , "The People, Yes!" Neither is it alienated; it looks at man and his history probingly, but robustly and without flinching.

The Interweaving Poetry of American History

The Near-Frontiers

by

Sherwood Trask

"All is provided for/By the beneficent flood
All is a-going on/Nothing is waste
All is a-going on Inexorably, to the unknown beyond the horizon"

These are some pertinent lines from the poem "Ancient Egypt" by Sherwood Trask. All is provided for in this wonderfully refreshing book, a collection of THE INTERWEAVING POETRY OF AMERICAN HISTORY. There is the quiet solemnity of the eternal forest, interspersed with the forceful music of Man shouting his pleasure at the mere thought of being alive. There is the smell of the familiar home town that we all know so well, mixed with the strange perfumes of far places and people. Here we find boyhood memories, as seen through the eyes of a man who thinks young, and who has given a special strength and character to a collection of poems covering a tremendous divergence of interests.

Two poems, in particular, stand out from the others; not because they are finer pieces of work, but simply because of their tone. Read "Raw War" for a scathing condemnation of the inherent desire of Man to kill his fellows. Read "The Land of the Cyclones" and allow yourself to be swept into American history, complete with its charm, its violence, its hopes and its dreams. This is stark, dramatic realism with a rhythm of its own, with a deep meaning.

As Edwin Muir, a Scotch shepherd youth who became an outstanding English critic said ". . . Best work I've read in a long time by any contemporary poet. . . ."

And Isaac Goldberg, Dean of Tin Pan Alley, wrote ". . . I've read (these poems) and reread them, and like them better each time. . . ."

Dear Margaret Hulbert:

Thanks so much for your recent note. There are laws such as you advocate. SEDFRE has financial reports filed with the New York State Department of Social Service. In addition, there are contributors services such as the National Information Bureau. The Bureau provides reports on several hundred of the major non-profit organizations in the country. They are concerned not only with cost of fund-raising, but also with duplication and adequacy of programs. The National Information Bureau's address is 305 East 45th Street, New York, N.Y.C. You might find it worthwhile to subscribe and be assured of where your funds are going.

We try to keep costs low in spite of the increasing costs of mailing and labor. So far we have been successful. For your information I am sending a copy of the Technical Assistance Program - First Year of SEDFRE which tells something about one of our new programs.

164 Madison Avenue
New York, N. Y. 10016

Dear Charles Evers:

I have just read with much interest an offprint of your article which appeared in the November 30, 1969 issue of The Sunday Star. I hope that you will continue these excellent efforts and I hope that you will refrain from two very unfavorable practices that militants have employed and which have driven away millions of their previous supporters. In the first place we don't want to be a divided nation on the basis of color, religion, region, or any other matter and anyone who contributes to the division of the nation is more or less a traitor and certainly a very poor citizen.

I hope that you will avoid using terms which tend to separate the blacks from the whites even in Mississippi. I have lived in Mississippi for two short periods and go there rather frequently and I know Mississippi rather well. They have a long way to go.

I write this primarily to congratulate you on the training of officers. I am very familiar with Negroes in the South as well as elsewhere and I know of places where they have been denied a good education and where they have come up with racial prejudices (for which you can't blame them). There is great need for this training. I hope it will not be a propaganda institute training Negro militants who will set the cause back.

I am making my annual contribution to SEDFRE and wishing you well in getting financial help and in giving the right sort of leadership in this area.

Sincerely,

Harl R. Douglass

In conjunction of the League of Women Voters in the Indianapolis, Indiana area, I am coordinating a pilot project in voter education. You publish a pamphlet having to do with political power which I have seen of which I would like to have as many copies as you might be able to give me for distribution in this program.

If a cost is involved, say for something like 50 pamphlets or more, please let me know what this would be and I will attempt to get League monies to purchase these. Meanwhile, could I possible have just a copy or two to refer to?

This program is to begin on March 2, 1970, so I would appreciate any help you can give me in a hurry.

Thank you so much.

Feb.19,1970

Gentlemen:

In care of the Rev.Charles Briscoe,I'm submitting for your earnest consideration and further investigation,material received yesterday from an organization hitherto unknown to me.

Our new school board is established with more 'firsts' than any of us could have dreamed might be possible,including a high proportion of ministers.Now I'm wondering if we need another first:the first school board in the nation to ask professional help in training the board members to define their job and then perform it.I can't remember a time in the past 25 years when more than two members of our board seemed to know what was needed and how to achieve it.

The organization SEDFRE seems to be conceived imaginatively,and to have a structure flexible enough we might,if the board decides there's wisdom in it,qualify for their help.Some people might consider it costly without even inquiring about the financial problems,or the ultimate value to the kids,the town,and other organizations which might benefit from leadership exposed to innovative techniques of training or analysis.

Frankly,I think their basic assumption that many white,middleclass people have already learned, by osmosis or experience,the skills necessary to effective leadership,is more than a little bit funny ! Furthermore,it's obviously false from the viewpoint of logic:

IF WHITE PEOPLE ARE SO EXPERT AT RUNNING ORGANIZATIONS,including government,HOW COME EVERYTHING IS SUCH AN UNGODLY MESS ?

All best wishes,

Helen Menn

In response to Julian Bond's appeal our Buck Dinner Committ voted $50 for your valuable enterprise. We noted your officers and board and we know that Julian's word is as good as his bond. When the socialists in Milwaukee 50 years or so ago elected a mayor and councilmen and began sending members to the Wisconsin legislature they instituted similar training but not so formal and well based.. One of their problems--which you probably will encounter too--is to hold some of the election victors in line when the establishment begins offering them temptations, financial, social and/or sexual.

Our committee meets once a year in February. If you care to apply again next year please have your appeal in my hands next January.

Your appeal of the 6th of February was a strong one and I wish I had the means to help in a big way, but I'm way along in my 80's and on a Custody Account — however, I'm enclosing my check for $10.00 just to show interest and to cover cost of your letter to me.

I'm definitely for these causes to help our Indians, Afro-Americans, and all newly assimilated citizens, and only wish I had more of the world's goods to share. It really hurts not to be able to write a gigantic check!

By the way, I still don't know what SEDFRE stands for. Wouldn't it be well to explain to those of us who haven't known about your organization and what it is trying to put across?

Most sincerely,

We are a relatively new, small, but growing organization of people who have served in the civil rights movement during the 1960s. We have become convinced that there is a need at all levels, but particularly at the community level, for more highly skilled, sophisticated and effective leadership. I want to thank you for the concern which caused you to write your recent note.

As with most cause organizations, there are only two ways in which we can increase our income. One is to get more money from those who have supported us in the past. That is why we send out more detailed reports to some of our larger contributors. We find that the additional knowledge of what we do and how we do it pays off in terms of larger contributions over a greater period of time

The second is to reach out to new people through the use of the lists of other organizations. Inevitably this means that there is some duplication since it is only those lists which have duplication which are ;good for our purposes. Those who support similar organizations are morelikely to support us. It does work out though I know it must seem somewhat wasteful.

Yet, I do want to assure you that we keep a very careful record of lists used, of the returns and of net reply. We are not funded by one or two generous millionaires. Therefore, we must mail more and appeal to middle-class America. I trust you will understand.

Sincerely,

Dear Bob:

In a couple of weeks our financial situation will be very very tight. One of the foundations we thought would meet in April will not meet until May, and we are taking on new responsibilities in Greene County, Alabama. I hope that you might help us once again.

Dear Helen Yunck:

Thanks so much for your note to Julian Bond and your contribution of $25. We are especially grateful to you for this tangible expression of your belief.

I am enclosing a recent memo on some of our work in Fayette, Mississippi which may be of interest to you because it shows slow but meaningful progress.

Thanks so much for your interest and concern.

Att: Mr. Marvin Reid, President

Gentlemen:

Thank you for your letter. Yes, indeed, my Belief is the same as Dr. Martin Luther King's, Mrs. Coretta Scott King's, and Yours.

I am so pleased that Mayor Evers is doing so well in ~~Jackson~~. I understand, too, that Union College in Cranford is to promote — or start — a Junior College there.

I do note that your Third ~~that~~ "Lavender House" might be a "loser"; so far as Business is concerned I am very enthusiastic — but, couldn't some of the larger Wig, etc. manufacturers give Lowndes House their "Over-flow" of business? Or, isn't that done any more? I think they should, for there must be a great demand for Wigs, Etc. All over the country.

Also, wasn't there a Mississippi Glass Co. some years ago — or, couldn't Corning Glass Co. open up, maybe, a small factory — or, Over-flow there?

(You can see how enthusiastic I am!)

I would so like to see Jaqueline successful, for Mayor Lewis is such a splendid gentleman, in every way.

I wish I might read more — read over again, "I hope Mr. Board will go on in "Politics."

Dear Mr. Bond:

After reading your enclosed letter and news bulletin husband and I agree that SEDFRE is a most worthwhile rganization for us to support. We are both committed racial equality in this country.

I am always sick with anger and frustration whenever read of the terrible and heinous acts of intimidation d discrimination dealt to the Blacks, Indians, and other norities of our nation. Learning of the existence of ch organizations as SEDFRE makes me almost feel that e future may see justice for all men.

I only wish we could pledge more money to your cause.
wever, my husband is still in graduate school and our nances are little. Next year when both of us are working e shall contribute generously to SEDFRE.

Cordially,

Mr. Ronnie Moore, Executive Director
164 Madison Avenue
New York, N.Y. 10016

Dear Mr. Moore:

Nixon knows "how to analyze a city budget", how to locate and secure "added sources of income", and certainly he knows "the basics of legal and parliamentary procedures". Without doubt he has know how but somehow he lacks something in his attitudes and appraisal of problems.

This thought went through my mind as I read the brochure on the way SEDFRE helps elected officials. I am certain that the officials SEDFREserves enter office with deep human compassion and understanding. No help is required here; these elements, far more essential to behavior and decision making, have been well learned - not having been blocked as was general education.

However, there may be one prejudice - one prejudgment attitude - which, being so basically crucial to forward movement, should be looked at forthrightly. I speak of genocide. The attitudes formed on both sides result from will-of-the-wisp conjectures as to the attitudes of the other. Sooner or later reason must enter. It may be easier to view this out of the U.S. context.

During a period of twelve years while working as economist/statistician in development work in Latin America I got to know an agronomist from the U.S. who happened to be a Mormon. We used to have some very interesting discussions, not on religion but problems of economic, social and political development.

I used to argue that development was like a symphony, requiring harmonious relationships of Growth after Change: land reform, education, food production, health, etc. And, knowing a bit about the numbers question, I included the pace of population growth to match these conditions for the improvement in the quality of life.

Some of the Latins thought emotionally and only in terms of a nationalistic force-of-numbers of people, even though we live in an age of almost mandatory know how in science and technology. They actually advocated a growth in population! The Mormon rationalized differently. My friend's training in agricultural economics led him to understand the need for land reform. As the final point in our friendly discussion he used the argument that the very pressure of people with their starving needs would force the revolution to achieve this land reform. As a Mormom he was not predisposed to see family planning as even a possibility. This whole approach seemed to me to be an extremely cruel way - using helpless babies and discontent to force change. I'm not against forcing change - it's just that I think there are better strategies.

Historically, landowners in underdeveloped countries had their strategy. Once that they were assured of a sufficient labor supply, "excess" population could only be trouble making and thus, at the pain of seeming to care less, they allowed high infant and mother mortality through provoked abortion. Some could be properly accused of espousing genocide.

My experience seems to reveal that men and classes of men have used child-bearing women pretty much as a tool for selfish and political purposes. In this technical-scientific age with increasing opportunity for self determination/management it is especially important for the development of Head Power and not Head Count. Power to the people must be thought of in these strategic terms.

I have a feeling that SEDFRE IS WELL aware of this question and that my observations may simply act to reinforce what is known. Eventually I suppose it will have to be the women who take the stand on the question of family planning. But essential too are elected officials informed as to the needs and who are unprejudiced on this question. The charge of genocide obfuscates and prevents thought and actions which otherwise could be taken by families as a matter of individual human right and by a people in the process of "overcoming".

I would like very much to have your reactions and to learn of SEDFRE's position on this question of family planning. Quite understandably there has been suspicion (and quite properly for some) that whites were interested in family planning for the blacks so as to keep their numbers down. I sincerely hope that the black leadership does not respond to this by opposite thought and action. The matter should be viewed on its merits, apart from the prejudice of a misguided few.

Sincerely yours,

John W. Morse

Kathleen Kennedy
2522 Grove Ave., #6
Richmond, Va. 23220

Dear Kathleen Kennedy:

I have your note of April 4th. I am somewhat at a loss as to how to answer it. First, because it is based on a misapprehension. I have talked to Charles Evers several times and at length. He has no opposition to inter-racial marriage. He does have concern about staff members of his working in a highly volatile situation where there have already been several attempts on his life. This concern is not unjustified. After all, it's only a few years since his brother was murdered.

The appeal was from Julian Bond to support our efforts to train local officials in a wide variety of communities. We hope to make them more skillful, effective and more responsive to the needs of his constituents. We don't expect that SEDFRE as an organization, or that individual staff members will agree with every decision made by these local officials. That would be too much to expect. We do want to help develop their strength to stand on their own feet and make their own decisions.

I trust you will understand the spirit in which I wrote. I am grateful to you for your statement of concern.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Mute:

Thanks so much for your note to Julian Bond and for your check of $15.00. I understand the concern out of which you wrote. Also, it isn't a small check to us. It is higher than the average, and as a cause organization, we exist on the thousands of small checks rather than on the big contributor.

It is a problem of mutual understanding and respect. It is a critical but difficult one. Respect comes from achievement. We must therefore open the gates as widely and as quickly as possible. The problem of course comes in deciding what is possible.

Thanks so much for your interest and concern.

Dear Friends: att. Charles Ebers -

I can't tell you how thrilled I was to read the sheet "When Elected Officials Must Be Trained First." The scope of comprehension is staggering in its entirety. Of course, what you have said about the need for training for public service is pertinent in Portland, Ore., Multnomah County, and our little town of Fairview, also, but no doubt the problems are not so critically urgent nor are they being monitored so closely.

What Sedro is doing in Mississippi should set a pattern for other States, Counties, and Cities.

This is the reason I'm so thrilled to be alive in these times. The vista is opening up beyond anything imagined or dreamed 20 years ago, for all of us! Together is a precious word and should be writ large!

I wish I could be more helpful. We have a critical health problem in the family which is draining resources. I'm enclosing $1, believing God can multiply its worth a thousandfold as as is added to the loaves & fishes already on hand.

Ironically, we got caught "between" health-wise. Our son makes too much to be eligible for any assistance. His insurance as an Episcopal Priest does not cover any sickness his wife may have. She is totally helpless and will linger on, no one knows how long. He must keep a woman housekeeper who costs almost half his wage. This is not by way of a complaint. I mention it only because it does effect my ability to help you.

May God bless and sustain you. I've been following your progress as reported in the press, prayer — and thank-fully!

We rejoice at all progress achieved. The thing that thrilled me in your flier was the recognition of our need for each other and a vision of what we can eventually achieve together! It must be so. We all belong ~~the~~ to the same race — the human race.

Dear Mr. Bond -

The enclosed check is in response to your appeal dated April 7, 1970, for SEDFRE. Granted that the work of SEDFRE is important, still it does seem futile training officials to "fight" for a diminishing share of the Federal Tax pie, when military expenditures get so much of the money. Maybe part of the training could be to equate domestic spending costs for a project to similar costs for some war like D.O.D. expenditure.

Dear Mr. Kruse:

You are quite right and we do in our training programs try to bring out the relationship between larger federal expenditures for the Department of Defense and the limited amounts available for domestic spending. But, we also have to teach the poor and the newly enfranchised the skills involved in getting their share. Both are essential elements in changing our society. If we did not do this last, it would simply mean that the domestic pie would continue to go to those who had always received it. This we cannot accept.

Dear Mr. Morse:

You are right about President Nixon having all the requisite know-how, but lacking something in attitude. Actually we do a fair amount of attitude training as well as the development of specific skills. One of the major problems with newly elected black officials is that very quickly a gap develops between them and their constituency. They are uncomfortable about it, but find it difficult to resolve the problem. Our leadership training experience stands us in pretty good stead here and our workshops are quite effective. I am sending you a report (if we have it) on one session at one of our school board seminars.

We do not really have a formal position on family planning. Its just something that the individual staff members know is a necessary component of any effective community change. The proposed new health center in Fayette, Mississippi will have a small family planning clinic attached.

Thanks so much for your note and for your contribution.

May 1, 1970

Dear Friend:

I am writing to you as one of the committed minority -- the growing number of Americans, young and mature; black, brown and white -- engaged in the difficult business of turning newly-won rights into real improvements in the everyday way people live.

The "movement" has moved swiftly indeed -- with such speed and vigor that newly enfranchised minority-group voters are sending to office their own mayors, sheriffs, school board members, and state legislators like myself.

Stepping into public office with no previous experience is a real trial by fire. I lived through a period of bewilderment, despair and searching. I vowed then to do all I could to make things a bit easier for the others all around the country who would soon be seeking the know-how they need to represent their communities effectively.

My own personal efforts can, of course, reach only a few of the growing corps of black and Spanish-speaking new officials. That's why SEDFRE and its program of Technical Assistance for Newly Elected Officials is made to order for the movement and where things are at today. Each year I find new reasons to be proud of my association with this deeply committed interracial group, providing needed services to the movement for civil rights and economic justice.

Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette, Mississippi, describes in full detail just how SEDFRE helped him acquire the skills he needed from the moment victory was announced. Read it, and you will begin to appreciate how practical SEDFRE assistance can be.

SEDFRE works in many regions, with many people: Mexican-American school board members in five Southwestern states...Mayor Richard Hatcher's administration in Gary, Indiana...Zelma Wyche, Louisiana's first black sheriff...citizen-leaders of cooperatives scattered throughout the South...men and women working through community-action groups in the urban North.

I cannot urge you strongly enough to lend SEDFRE your support. Learning to plan a budget or secure a Federal grant may not seem dramatic or glamorous. But the hard ABC's of government are the next item on Freedom's agenda. We who must learn in a hurry are counting on each of you who can to help us.

We of the committed minority must continue to speak, act and give of ourselves for justice and equality, towards an America no longer divided. You can help today. Give generously now to SEDFRE.

Sincerely,

Julian Bond

P.S. I am sorry about the duplicate mailings. We try to stagger the mailings to avoid this, but since we usually use third class mail there is no way of determining when the letters will in fact be delivered. Sometimes they are delivered within a day or two of mailing; and sometimes they take 3 or 4 weeks. I am sorry for the inconvenience and most grateful for your support and understanding.

Dear Mrs. Pratt:

Thanks so much for your very generous contribution of $100 for the furtherance of our work. We are most grateful.

For your information, I am enclosing a xerox copy of a story from the Washington Post which describes one of the results of our day-to-day work for Fayette, Mississippi. We have been working on this both in Fayette in preparing the application, and in Washingtone and New York. There are half a dozen other such projects in the works. Not all will succeed, but some will and this will mean a significant improvement in the lives of people in small rural communities throughout the country. Your generous and continued support has helped make this possible.

May 14, 1970

Dear Friend:

I am writing to you as one of the committed minority -- the growing number of Americans, young and mature; black, brown and white -- engaged in the difficult business of turning newly-won rights into real improvements in the everyday way people live.

The "movement" has moved swiftly indeed -- with such speed and vigor that newly enfranchised minority-group voters are sending to office their own mayors, sheriffs, school board members, and state legislators like myself.

Stepping into public office with no previous experience is a real trial by fire. I lived through a period of bewilderment, despair and searching. I vowed then to do all I could to make things a bit easier for the others all around the country who would soon be seeking the know-how they need to represent their communities effectively.

My own personal efforts can, of course, reach only a few of the growing corps of black and Spanish-speaking new officials. That's why SEDFRE and its program of Technical Assistance for Newly Elected Officials is made to order for the movement and where things are at today. Each year I find new reasons to be proud of my association with this deeply committed interracial group, providing needed services to the movement for civil rights and economic justice.

Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette, Mississippi, describes in full detail just how SEDFRE helped him acquire the skills he needed from the moment victory was announced. Read it, and you will begin to appreciate how practical SEDFRE assistance can be.

SEDFRE works in many regions, with many people: Mexican-American school board members in five Southwestern states...Mayor Richard Hatcher's administration in Gary, Indiana...Zelma Wyche, Louisiana's first black sheriff...citizen-leaders of cooperatives scattered throughout the South...men and women working through community-action groups in the urban North.

I cannot urge you strongly enough to lend SEDFRE your support. Learning to plan a budget or secure a Federal grant may not seem dramatic or glamorous. But the hard ABC's of government are the next item on Freedom's agenda. We who must learn in a hurry are counting on each of you who can to help us.

We of the committed minority must continue to speak, act and give of ourselves for justice and equality, towards an America no longer divided. You can help today. Give generously now to SEDFRE.

Sincerely,

Julian Bond

The purpose of these 3 letters is for one cause to help your people to a decent life and I for one feel you have been silent and inactive too long. You know what all you really need is money. Just look at this waste, the paper work involved, stationery and penail to do all this work. Why could not all these organization for your requests for help go thru some center where all contributions would then be allocated to the various branches since they all are meant to help the needy among poor people in quest for better Education.

I being a Jewess of some 63 yrs think back and recall when we came from Russia my Dad - God rest him was told to contact one organization the "Hyas" still in existance and they directed us in everything - housing school for the youngsters, financial aid until Dad got the job to which the Hyas sent him to.

Dear Friends:

More than 12 million black Americans still live in the south, but no black Congressman has represented the south for nearly three quarters of a century. Thus does racism devour democracy.

When the last black Congressman was defeated almost 70 years ago, he declared, "We will return." Not until today has that defiant promise been a possibility.

The candidacy of Andrew Young for Congress from Atlanta, Georgia is an historic opportunity to begin righting a terrible wrong. Because he is a veteran leader of landmark struggles, working at the side of Martin Luther King in Birmingham, Selma and Mississippi, Andrew Young would enter Congress as a representative of singular ability and proven character.

There is a poetic justice in Andrew Young's candidacy. He risked his life daily for nearly a decade in the turbulent south to smash the edifice of segregation. Now with the black electorate he brought into being he can win and redeem the almost forgotten pledge, "We will return." Congress and the whole nation will benefit from his victory.

The campaign will not be easy. The incumbent is an extreme reactionary. The district is not overwhelmingly black; there is no automatic victory. To win he will have to be the candidate not only of the 31% black population, but of a significant proportion of the 69% white voters. He is perhaps the only black leader supporting economic and racial justice and peace who can unite black and white southerners for progressive change. This is the hallmark of his whole career.

In a race that is historic and national in significance we have an opportunity to support a superbly qualified candidate. If he loses it will be for lack of funds; in a decade of dedicated social action Andrew Young has accumulated experience and respect but not money. (His Republican opponent will have access to almost unlimited financial resources.) Your

Dear Mrs. Riegelhaupt:

Thanks so much for your recent letter to Julian Bond. Since he is in Atlanta and spends most of his time in the State Legislature, he has asked me to reply to your letter.

There are a number of civil causes and organizations working in the civil rights field for essentially the same reason as there are a number of Jewish organization. You mention Hias but in addition, of course, there is the Anti Defamation League of B'nai Birth, the United Jewish Appeal, the Histradut, American Jewish Committee, American Jewish Committee, the Workmen's Circle, the Farband and many others. They do work together from time to time on program, but they do have separate officers, separate emphases and separate fund raising structures. This is almost inevitable in a society such as ours which emphasizes voluntary organizations.

We in SEDFRE are doing what we can as individuals and community leaders to help Kenneth Gibson in Newark. Right now we are attem attempting to work as much in the white community as the black since he will need a substantial white vote to win. Certainly he deserves it, since he is an able, conscientious, vigorous and dedicated man.

Your $10 check, payable to the United Negro College Fund, but received by us, has been forwarded on to them. I do hope that your health improves.

Dear Mr. Bond:

We were most interested in the material you sent out regarding SEDFRE - the article by Charles Evers is well written and appealing.

We have already given heavily this year to American Friends Service Committee and the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund--both of which work hard at the civil rights issue. But we are also incleeing a check for $50 for your work, and pray that its work may get the desired results, and that many trained leaders may arise fromthe minority groups.

My husband who is profeseor of Elementary Education at Ball State University here in Muncie (a tall blonde Scandanavian) and I (an ordaaned minister, from a Southern family) are vitally interested in all civil rights issues. We would be most happy to help in any way possible. But as you can well see, my secretarial skills wouldn't be very helpful to anyone!

Gentlemen,

My usual reaction to mailed solicitations is to throw them away, often without even looking at them. Fortunately, I read yours. I am quite impressed with the work you do. Prior to receiving your message I was unaware of the existence of your organization.

I am presently working on my Masters degree in Teaching Business Education (general, not secretarial) and hope to follow this with a Ph.D. in Economics. I have a B. S. in Commerce, specializing in Banking and Finance, already. As a student, and a particularly unendowed one at that, I can hardly afford to give generously to charitable causes. Thus, I regret that I cannot give more than I have.

I doubt that I could be of much help, but if there is any practical way, aside from donating money, that I can help your organization, I would be happy to do so.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to contribute. Keep up the good work.

Enclosures

Dear Sirs:

[ca June 9, 1970]

I made a contribution early in the year, and I like what you are doing.

- Except that I fear you are spending all of my contribution in mailing me duplicate appeals. Enclosed are five addresses.

Two appeals per year would be more than enough. But five duplicate appeals? Too many. Save your postage and use the money for the real purposes of SEDFRE.

Dear Friends:

Milton College June 18, 1970

Tonight, I finally have answered your fine plea for help which came May 1st with a small, alas, contribution, and have carefully read the article by Charles Ewers.

While I have no idea how helpful it would be to you, if at all, or to him, it seemed to me that if my brother who teaches political science at the U. of North Carolina, in Chapel Hill, is not getting your material which you sent me, perhaps he might like to. His interest has been in city planning. He has been in Brazil several times - in Rio - twice to live and teach - or research - for a year at a time, to help Brazilian teachers to teach. And he has contacts in Washington in his field.

Of course, it may be unwise of me to have you send him a plea for money since while he is generous enough, as a recent recent

P.S. Send him the Julian Bond letter and especially the Evers article when Milton College Elected Officers Must be Trained First".

Milton, Wisconsin

your work, he has still doctor bills to pay; whether he can help you, would only be for him to decide, but I thought that it might be more effective, if he can help a bit financially, for you to send the material to him than if I were to do so.

Perhaps it would be better if you do not tell him it was my idea!! He's a fine person but probably gets a lot of pleas for money for worthwhile causes. Still it won't hurt to put him on your mailing list, just to see if anything happens. If it doesn't after a few times, you can eliminate the name. I suppose it's possible you already have it, in which case all these remarks are superfluous!

Best wishes — Dr. Robert T. Daland

Dear Mr. Julian Bond,

I went back to Syracuse University this month for my 35th Reunion. You were the Commencement speaker in the Stadium. Your speech was forceful but moderately given and I was moved by it.

When I got home I looked up my last letter from SEDFRE. Obviously a candle clock is not a candle clock in many. I am enclosing another, proud to be one of "the committed minority." I may not always agree in the months ahead with your speeches — but I feel a real need to do — what I can to preserve the real substance of the real dream. We need this voice, this reason, this wisdom, this leadership. And we need it now. And I hope that you and the people around you will be able to keep on keeping on. We can't give up the struggle & we can't lose the dream. We can't give in to violence and reaction. God give us wisdom and perseverance.

Dear Dr. Dorgan:

Thanks so much for your note to Julian Bond about our mailings. I wish it were true that fewer letters mean more money left for the cause. In fact, our experience is just the opposite.

People do not contribute unless they are asked. The only way to get additional contributors is to use the list of contributors of other similar organizations. This produces some duplication and therefore some waste, but it also produces more money for the cause. We do very careful analysis of the returns from each list.

Thanks so much for your concern. I am enclosing a report from Ed Cole, a SEDFRE staff associate assigned to economic development in Fayette, Mississippi. I think you will agree that the progress in the past six months has been gratifying. There is, of course, much yet to do.

Dear Mr. Pfaltz:

Our records indicate that you are carried as a contributor from the address at 10 Windermere Terrace in Short Hills, New Jersey. It is possible that you received an appeal at the First National Bank because you are carried on the list of another organization at that address. When we use the list of other organizations there is no practical way in which we can check their addresses.

Cause organizations which are not supported by large government grants or the donations of millionaires, must appeal through the mail to a large number of relatively small givers. The only way we can do this is by using the list of other organizations. If we did not make these appeals, we would die. This is true not only for our own organization, but for many others as well.

Regretably this results in occasional duplications, but I am sure you will agree that the value of these organizations to our society is very great.

Dear Ms. Bond —

As you see, I am in receipt of your letter. I have read it carefully. I am not — so far as I am aware — one of the committed minority. I am sympathetic to the cause of the Blacks — and all downtrodden people who are trying to better their conditions — but I am 78 years old, retired nurse, living on my limited means; — I am grateful for Social Security and am not on welfare. I cannot take on any causes or champion any thing because 78 is about it. You will agree, I'm sure. But this I want to say to you — Dont destroy America. I am aware that your people have suffered much; are, even now; that we of the north abandoned them after the civil war, to the unfeeling mercies of the South; I am sorry. And so were many of us, whose consciences had ~~been~~ at last become aware of the tragedy of the Black man. Slowly, but surely, the pendulum was — perhaps is — swinging in the direction of better legislation, better housing, better education, better everything for the Blacks. But it seems to me that it is halted — or faltering — because of burning looting, rioting, destruction and the hate you seem to feel for all who are of white blood. I am white, but I do not hate you, never have; I am your friend, always. Why do you hurt your good cause, why destroy, when you can build by being patient? You have friends; I am one: There are many who feel as I do. Think about it. Amy Anderson

Dear Friend:

I am writing to you as one of the committed minority -- the growing number of Americans, young and mature; black, brown and white -- engaged in the difficult business of turning newly-won rights into real improvements in the everyday way people live.

The "movement" has moved swiftly indeed -- with such speed and vigor that newly enfranchised minority-group voters are sending to office their own mayors, sheriffs, school board members, and state legislators like myself.

Stepping into public office with no previous experience is a real trial by fire. I lived through a period of bewilderment, despair and searching. I vowed then to do all I could to make things a bit easier for the others all around the country who would soon be seeking the know-how they need to represent their communities effectively.

My own personal efforts can, of course, reach only a few of the growing corps of black and Spanish-speaking new officials. That's why SEDFRE and its program of Technical Assistance for Newly Elected Officials is made to order for the movement and where things are at today. Each year I find new reasons to be proud of my association with this deeply committed interracial group, providing needed services to the movement for civil rights and economic justice.

Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette, Mississippi, describes in full detail just how SEDFRE helped him acquire the skills he needed from the moment victory was announced. Read it, and you will begin to appreciate how practical SEDFRE assistance can be.

SEDFRE works in many regions, with many people: Mexican-American school board members in five Southwestern states...Mayor Richard Hatcher's administration in Gary, Indiana...Zelma Wyche, Louisiana's first black sheriff...citizen-leaders of cooperatives scattered throughout the South...men and women working through community-action groups in the urban North.

I cannot urge you strongly enough to lend SEDFRE your support. Learning to plan a budget or secure a Federal grant may not seem dramatic or glamorous. But the hard ABC's of government are the next item on Freedom's agenda. We who must learn in a hurry are counting on each of you who can to help us.

We of the committed minority must continue to speak, act and give of ourselves for justice and equality, towards an America no longer divided. You can help today. Give generously now to SEDFRE.

Rejoice that Decency and Honesty prevaled in Newark New Jersey!

Sincerely,

Julian Bond

Dear Miss Anderson:

Thanks so much for your recent note to Julian Bond which he passed on to me. I am the President of SEDFRE and I am white. Obviously, we do agree that there are some whites who are committed to the cause, not just of the Negro, but to the cause of a better America; an America true to its ideals.

However, I cannot counsel patience. I must counsel action. Useful action, constructive action, thoughtful action, but always action. We must act to remove the evils that exist, to bring man closer to the truth and to that which is good in man.

The pendulum swings because some men dare, others see and respond to that effort.

We are all grateful for your understanding concern.

Sincerely yours,

Marvin Rich

Dear Friends:

The letter from Julian Bond of June 3, 1970 describing the SEDFRE program interested us greatly.

As a result of our Special Chapter in 1968-69, funds have been set aside for a War on Prejudice by the Presentation Sisters. We are happy to be able to send $100 from this fund to help in the SEDFRE Fund Drive.

We will be glad to receive other literature which may be published by this association.

This letter came to me some time ago. It is written to 'young, mature'.

I am almost 83 years old, living on retirement income, so I have no money to send you, but I surely pray for success for you. I am just as concerned about the poor Indians, the poor whites and the poor Asians.

I have had a colored (or Negro) eye Dr. colored nurses in the hospital etc - all wonderful people — people who considered me - a white - one of God's children, too. The trend now seems to be to stir up hatred between the races. I have always considered the Blacks a religious people. I am beginning to wonder — as I also wonder about some of our young whites who want to live without working. May God help you all.

Dear Mrs. Winslow:

I would like to thank you for your recent contribution of $100 to the inter-racial work of SEDFRE. It is good to know that our work to develop responsible and constructive leadership is so much appreciated.

SEDFRE no longer has a legal department which can work on such things as defense of the Panthers. We maintained one for a number of years, but were unable to continue it as funds grew tighter.

For your information, I am enclosing a report from Ed Cole, a SEDFRE staff associate assigned to economic development in Fayette, Mississippi. I think you will agree that the progress in the past six months has been gratifying. There is, of course, much yet to do.

SEDFRE
164 Madison Ave.
New York City
Attention: Mr. Marvin Rich

Dear Mr. Rich,

I have been more impressed with the sound of the SEDFRE programs than any other of the various organizations of similar causes which come to my attention via the mail-box. So, once again I am responding to the call for funds — and glad I am able to do so. I am not writing to say that; — I am really writing to ask a question. There are so many requests, as you know, for money, and many of the minority organizations requests sound so important — and at the same time so overlapping, or too broad, or some other feature leading to questions, that it would seem valuable for someone perhaps in your position to set up a kind of chart of who's who and in what order of priority, how related, how urgent (in the way of deadlines), — and what do you recommend? — put a nickel on each ~~worthy~~ project, or the whole dollar on one of the lot? Are some in better shape than others? I do think it might be a most useful deed for someone, in a position to know, to list all the many organizations relating to minority people, to define them with a specific example, to give their state of health, their sources of income, their present situation, Etc..

Following is a list I would indeed like to hear signed up by someone in the field:

A. Philip Randolph Fund
NAACP Special Contribution Fund
NAACP Legal Defense Fund
National Council of Negro Women
Medgar Evers Fund (is this to be a continuing thing?)
National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing

All of these I know about somewhat and contribute to somewhat, but the appeals are apt to be so profuse and so sweeping as to become too much — and almost paralyzing.

I am curious about the Interracial Council For Business Opportunity" about the "Black Economic Union" — about others I hear about.

Someone should do up a study!?

Sincerely —
Lucile Patrick (Mrs. J.T.)

August 5, 1970

Dear Friend:

I am writing to you as one of the committed minority -- the growing number of Americans, young and mature; black, brown and white -- engaged in the difficult business of turning newly-won rights into real improvements in the everyday way people live.

The "movement" has moved swiftly indeed -- with such speed and vigor that newly enfranchised minority-group voters are sending to office their own mayors, sheriffs, school board members, and state legislators like myself.

Stepping into public office with no previous experience is a real trial by fire. I lived through a period of bewilderment, despair and searching. I vowed then to do all I could to make things a bit easier for the others all around the country who would soon be seeking the know-how they need to represent their communities effectively.

My own personal efforts can, of course, reach only a few of the growing corps of black and Spanish-speaking new officials. That's why SEDFRE and its program of Technical Assistance for Newly Elected Officials is made to order for the movement and where things are at today. Each year I find new reasons to be proud of my association with this deeply committed interracial group, providing needed services to the movement for civil rights and economic justice.

Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette, Mississippi, describes in full detail just how SEDFRE helped him acquire the skills he needed from the moment victory was announced. Read it, and you will begin to appreciate how practical SEDFRE assistance can be.

SEDFRE works in many regions, with many people: Mexican-American school board members in five Southwestern states...Mayor Richard Hatcher's administration in Gary, Indiana...Zelma Wyche, Louisiana's first black sheriff...citizen-leaders of cooperatives scattered throughout the South...men and women working through community-action groups in the urban North.

I cannot urge you strongly enough to lend SEDFRE your support. Learning to plan a budget or secure a Federal grant may not seem dramatic or glamorous. But the hard ABC's of government are the next item on Freedom's agenda. We who must learn in a hurry are counting on each of you who can to help us.

We of the committed minority must continue to speak, act and give of ourselves for justice and equality, towards an America no longer divided. You can help today. Give generously now to SEDFRE.

Sincerely,

Julian Bond

Mrs. Gilbert T. Patrick
Rt. 2, Box 216-A
Delton, Michigan 49046

Dear Mrs. Patrick:

Thanks so much for your recent contribution of $500 and the very thoughtful note that came with it. We try to be honest with our supportors and tell them of our goals, our programs and our failures.

It is true that there is significant overlapping among the various civil rights organizations. Some of this is inevitable and some could be avoided. For instance, we in SEDFRE eliminated our legal defense program this year because we felt that this effort could be better done by other organizations. We are scruitinizing our Scholarship Program because we are not certain that it is large enough to have great impact. However, there is no other organization with a similar program, and thus we plan to continue ours for the time being at least. It would be very hard to develop a useful chart of the various organizations. Some of the organizations on contributors, such as the National Information Bureau, do studies. However, these are not very useful since they concern themselves primarily with financial reports and do not adequately describe programs.

I think most contributors have to make decisions in terms of what they consider to be the most meaningful approached to today's problems. I would not personally recommend giving to everyone nor would I put everything on one organization, since many different efforts and many different approaches are needed. I can give you a little bit of information about some of the organizations. The A. Philip Randolph Fund receives most of its income from the American trade union movement and from some foundations. The Medgar Evers Fund receives most of its income through direct mail contributions. These two organizations seem to me to be more than adequately funded in terms of their current programs. The NAACP Special Contributions Fund and the NAACP Legal Defense Fund are really quite large organizations with varied programs with a significant base of support, but still never quite enough money to go around. While I am on the board of the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing, I think their philosophy is excellent, but the programs themselves tend to be too fleeting for maximum efforts.

I hesitate to write even this much about the other organizations since there is the possibility of misunderstanding. However, your note represented an honest concern which impelled me to take the risk.

Thanks once again for your understanding and support.

Sincerely yours,

Marvin Rich

Dear Mrs. Conner:

Triny Barnes has sent to us in the last few weeks, two very generous contributions from you. The first of $500, the second of $1100. As I indicated in our telephone conversation, $1100 is approximately the cost of one scholarship in the course of a year.

Enclosed is a copy of our most recent report on the Scholarship Program which describes in some detail our psogress. Also enclosed is a copy of the first year report on the Technical Assistance Program of SEDFRE.

Thanks so much for this very tangible evidence of your commitment to our cause of justice for all. We hope to continue to be worthy of your support.

Sincerely yours,

Marvin Rich
President

This form letter is followed by many identical copies sent to different addressees. (In the case of receipts acknowledging contributions, the amount of the contribution is also specified.) These have not been filmed, but the originals are deposited at the Archives Division, State Historical Society of Wisconsin.

In these days of Inflation this contribution is but a widows mite.
However if enough of us give this mite, and it is wisely used, we may soon present to America a substantially qualified group of Black Leaders & Workers, that will forever banish the stigma that we are an inferior people because we are Black.

I am a 78 year old widow and am not working only 2 days a week part time, and 3 days every other week so I do not have a lot to spend & I have so many asking help for their cause also. Many are worthy causes but I decided this year not to take on any new ones and give once to the 50 odd ones I had been giving a little to other years first 6 months and once in last 6 months. a little to a few at a time. Now people I work for have been on Vacation 3 weeks & will be gone this week also so no work this week, last week & only one day each of 2 weeks before. So had I had worked so as to be able to help will be short 4 days & maybe more. First week they were gone I worked getting things washed & house cleaned so they could go. So you see I am short on my money for my missionary work.

Will send a check for 2.00 now. Maybe later on I can send some when I get back working 2 days a week when school starts as both Mr & Mrs. T. are teachers.

Hope this may help a little,

SCHOLARSHIP, EDUCATION AND DEFENSE FUND FOR RACIAL EQUALITY, INC. ■ 164 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y. 10016 ■ (212) 532-8216

July 22, 1970

Dear Friend:

Fulfillment of the American Dream stands in grave jeopardy at this critical moment in our history. We who have devoted our lives to achieving full freedom for black Americans within the system are compelled to observe that time is fast running out. The advocates of violence are making significant inroads at the expense of constructive action. The hopes and aspirations of Negroes and other minorities are being dashed on the rocks of despair by those who would turn the clock back.

We know first hand that racial progress is a hard road to follow. It must be built brick by brick over long periods of time. This requires dedicated leadership with skills, know-how and resources at every level of society. These are the very ingredients that white America has systematically denied blacks and other minorities for centuries.

Yet, if we do not effect sweeping change in the near future, we face the growing possibility that all will be lost for each American. Legitimate black leaders have been emerging across the nation for years. They are among the true agents of change. They can help to transform our nation before it is too late. But today they need substantial help.

One crucial source of such help is SEDFRE -- the nation's foremost training and technical assistance organization in the rights field. Both of us, despite our own extensive experience, has felt the need to turn to SEDFRE for critical help, advice and know-how. So have countless others, as the enclosed brochure reveals.

The paradox is that now, just when SEDFRE is most needed to expand its work, we are faced with a counter trend. Nationally, the momentum towards freedom and equality has been severely blunted. Contributions to the rights movement have fallen sharply, especially to SEDFRE, which in turn has been forced to cut back its programs.

We have joined in this appeal to plead that this vital organization be supported to the hilt. You who have contributed in the past know better than most Americans how important SEDFRE is to the freedom struggle. Please give now--as generously as you can. Join us again in the most important war Americans can fight--the war against oppression and injustice.

Sincerely,

Julian Bond

Dear Emily Freshney:

Thanks so much for your contribution and for the note which accompanied it. Your convictions, concern and commitment shine through the letter. Evil is all around us and each of us must fight it in our own way with the strength that God gives us.

There is no pleasure without pain, nor achievement without struggle. We need judgment to discern how to struggle, and commitment to keep on in dark days. It is SEDFRE's belief that we help to develop that judgment and that commitment.

For your information, I am enclosing a recent report on the Eleanor Roosevelt Scholarship Program. I do hope you will find it of interest.

"In Fayette — with SEDFRE's help — we are telescoping the acquisition of experience and, therefore, of skills, in the process of making history. This is the new dimension of the civil rights struggle. Brick by brick, it is building a new edifice, based on justice and freedom, which is our true manifest destiny."

— Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette, Miss.

Across the nation, SEDFRE is serving the poor, the oppressed and the non-white in their rising struggle to obtain the skills and the know-how to further their own freedom. Through leadership training, technical assistance to newly-elected public officials, and scholarship programs, SEDFRE has helped thousands of community leaders to achieve constructive goals and to expand democracy at the local level. 1 Union Square, Room 902
New York 3, N. Y.

We are very grateful to you for your contribution of to the CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc.

You are helping us fulfill our commitment to provide social, educational and defense support for the struggle to achieve equal rights and opportunity for all Americans.

Your contribution will enable us to grant scholarships to students who have qualified for aid on the basis of financial need, academic promise and record of service and sacrifice in behalf of the civil rights movement. It will help us meet emergency and long term needs in legal defense. It will go toward our project to instruct Mississippi farmers in how to qualify for exisiting government aid programs.

We must depend on people like you for financial and moral support in this struggle which involves all of us. Please accept our sincere thanks for your help.

One thing is plain in America today. We are awakening once again, as a nation, to the moral responsibilities of freedom. The increasing surge of interest in efforts to eliminate discrimination and poverty, and to widen educational opportunities, are an expression of this awakening. The civil rights movement has been the leader and the goad.

Through the years Artists for CORE has made possible summer programs in the South. This year it hopes to raise even more for the tax exempt CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund.

The support of Americans, Negro and white, who value the ideals of justice is more than ever essential.

Those who have contributed their paintings, as well as those who have helped in other ways, are all partners in the most meaningful undertaking of our times.

Plans for the Fourth Annual CORE Art Exhibition and Sale are underway and it gives me great pleasure to tell you that Mr. Lloyd Goodrich and Mr. Jack Tworkov will be co-chairmen of the Art Committee, and that the Graham Gallery has generously donated its two floors. Incidentally, this year all contributions will be tax deductible.

This has been a year of progress, but in Mississippi, in Louisiana, indeed throughout the country there is a long difficult road ahead. I can never forget how much artists by their generosity have helped. I hope we can once again count on your partnership.

Mr. Goodrich and Mr. Tworkov will be in touch with you.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sirs:

Enclosed is our check for $63.74 in payment of the phone bill for the Artists for CORE, a fund-raising group connected with our organization. Artists for CORE is separate from the Congress of Racial Equality and the address you have is wrong. I have changed the stube and presume you will correct your records accordingly.

Please forgive the delay in payment. The offices of the CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund and Artists for CORE are separate and it took some time for us to receive the original bill.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Ralph Rosenfeld of Detroit CORE just called. As you know he is competent and thoughtful. One of his local people who had helped him in community fund raising received an invitation to the art show. They were impressed by the quality of the show.

They raised the possibility of bringing the unsold paintings to Detroit and exhibiting and selling them there. They do not feel that they could handle a show in Detroit from the beginning but do feel they might be successful in selling the works which we have already secured.

Are there any reasons in principle why this could not be done? Are there practical difficulties which cannot be overcome? What are the possibilities of doing this in one or two other cities?

cc: Doris Freedman

cc Ralph Rosenfeld

The firing line in the struggle for justice and equality is all around us. We believe that the effort to bring America closer to her ideals of justice, dignity and equality involves us all, white and Negro, young and old. The artists of America have shown through the contribution of their talent that they share this belief and commitment.

Every work sold will help furnish legal counsel where it is ~~most~~ needed most urgently -- in the often remote places where small groups of civil rights workers wage their lonely struggle. Every work sold will also help to advance the cause of freedom and dignity for all of us, and to utilize the creative spirit of the artist for a better society.

This is more than a catalogue of art. We, in CORE SEDF, regard it as a roll of honor.

Dear Ralph:

I haven't forgotten you and Detroit CORE on the art show. There are a number of serious problems which we're trying to work out.

One thing we all agree on here. That is, it will take you at least eight weeks to put on an exhibit and sale even though we would supply you with the package of paintings.

One thing you and your committee should be thinking about seriously is the location for such a show. It ought to be in an area where art buyers would normally shop. A gallery, if possible. Also, you will have to figure out who would do the selling and who would train the sales staff. Perhaps we would have to do that from here.

These are just a number of things to think about while we work on the other problems.

Cordially,

Marvin Rich
Executive Director

#two

We are most grateful for your generosity in contributing to this year's Artists for CORE show.

Although we regret that your work was not sold, it added immeasurably to the show and aided substantially in creating the quality of excellence which the exhibit projected.

It was because of this quality and the cooperation of artists like you, that we have exceeded our goal and raised a record amount of $75,000.

As you know, proceeds from the show will go primarily to legal defense in the South where it is so desperately needed.

Thank you, again.

Dear Marvin;

Enclosed are three copies of letters sent at the end of our show.

Number one was sent to all those who purchased a work of art. Number two was sent to all artists whose work was unsold. Number three was sent to all artists whose work was sold, each of these were individually written as in every case the name of the purchaser, the amount of their donation etc. was included. Special letters were sent to artists such as Kenneth Noland, Mark Rothko etc.

Can we make it 3:30 next Thursday instead of 4:00 ?

Dear Eva;

I've been trying to reach you by phone for days n' days... My upper most concern is "How is Newman"? I do hope he is feeling better....I know you must have been through a great deal....unfortunately, I to was in the hospital for three days last week....I"m fine now!

Now, we are trying desperately to clear things up at the office...there have been many mix-ups in checks, I do hope from this point on things will be attended to as soon as possible.

Enclosed is a copy of à letter to Mr. Butler, which is self explanitory.

Enclosed are two checks:

for Rauschenberg frame

Joseph Grippi $90.00
Payment for Karl Schrag painting

Please see that the check we requested for Mr. Schrag for $45.00 is sent as soon as possible...Also we've requested a $350.00 check for Philip Evergood which for some reason was never sent us.

Dear Mr. Butler:

I was quite disturbed to learn from your letter of May 26th, that our letter containing an explanation of the mix-up on your checks has not reached you. (copy enclosed)

Through an inexcusable error, your counter check was deposited on or about May 12th. When your replacement check arrived the error was picked up. At that time we felt it was best to return your replacement check with the aforementioned letter. Incredible as it seems, this letter now seems to be lost.

We assume you will now want to stop the replacement check since we also assume the counter check has already cleared.

Let me assure you that in spite of the fact that we are all volunteers in this fund raising effort, we do not brush off errors such as this one lightly. We are very concerned and stand ready to assist you in whatever way you feel we can to straighten out this matter.

Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Dear Marvin:

Enclosed is one check for $35.00 from Mrs. Stan Fingerhood covering one Rauschenberg Frame.

Please send me a check for $143.75 made out to KULICKE FRAMES, INC. covering the following invoice numbers:

#8807	$16.00	(Reg. Pollock) artist
#4570	18.00	(Ray Kerciu) "
#8776	16.00	(Marisicano) "
#8663	15.00	(J. Wines) "

#8828	14.00	(Hartigan)
#8778	16.00	(Altman)
#8412	25.00	(Baskin & Rivers)
* #8637	6.50	(Shapiro)

The total is $243.75, but we have $100.00 in credit for a Rauschenberg which was given in exchange for Frames.

Would you also send a second Kulicke check covering 30 Rauschenberg frames, and one broken glass. The glass was $3.00, the 30 frames come to $750.00 the invoice numbers are as follows

#1010	$750.00	(Thirty frames)
#1632	3.00	(Glass for Mr. Pei)

this check should then be made out for $753.00, and we're then only 13 frames away from closing out our bill with Kulicke..I feel it's better not to pay them for the rest until they bill us, as it would only confuse all our bookkeeping at this time.

BONDS -- CAN THEY DESEGREGATE THE SOUTH?

SEDF has just filed a suit in Monroe, Louisiana. Its purpose is to prevent the sale of school bonds until the city files an acceptable desegregation plan.

The basic argument is that the use of funds from the bonds to construct segregated schools will deprive Negroes of equal protection under the 14th Amendment and will result in the use of public funds for an unconstitutional purpose.

The suit will prevent delivery of the bonds for almost sixty days. During this time, SEDF hopes to settle the case in court or through negotiation with the school board.

The technique gives great power to civil rights groups since the funds are urgently needed and delay by the school board may result in significant additional cost. Two school desegregation plans have already been secured by SEDF through this method. St. Tammany Parish, Louisiana was the first to offer such a plan in April, 1965. Jackson Parish, Louisiana agreed to desegregate in August, 1965. In both cases the school boards agreed to integrate four grades immediately.

The bond technique may be useful in other areas as well. Hence, it may be possible to block the sale of bonds for streets, parks, hospitals, etc. unless the facilities are open to Negroes and whites alike on a basis of equality.

FILE VOTER INJUNCTION

SEDF attorneys Collins, Douglas & Elie have filed for an injunction in the Federal District Court of Louisiana against the New Orleans voter registrar and the State Board of Registration. The injunction names A. P. Gallinghouse and Gov. John McKeithen as officials charged with the responsibility of registering eligible voters in New Orleans.

The SEDF suit maintains that the defendents "have utilized and are still utilizing acts, procedures and devices intended to impede and obstruct the registration of Negroes who are eligible to register to vote."

The suit maintains that Negroes are required to produce excessive and unreasonable documentation of identification and residence and that the registrars have required Negroes to read portions of the registration application in violation of the Federal Voting Rights Act of 1965. SEDF's suit also maintains that deputy registrars have listed the party affiliation of some Negroes to be that of the "States Rights" Party when, in fact, this was not the case.

SEDF maintains that the defendents have denied Negroes the opportunity to register to vote and this denies to them the equal protection of the laws as guaranteed by the 14th Amendment. It also maintains that the requirements of documentation are so vague as to be in violation of the due process clause of the 14th Amendment and of the provisions of the 15th Amendment.

$400.00 from Robt. Rauschenberg for his purchase of a painting by Frank Stella $100.00 from Artist ARMAN for his purchase of a Rauschenberg print from Rauschenberg.

$31. 50 from Gulliver's Trails, Inc. for their share in the use of our typewritters.

It is important that we pay our tpyewritter bill just as soon as possible for we're many months overdue, because of billing errors etc., but ....let's finish with them.

There are three invoices enclosed that are ours . One for $20.80 one for $15.60 and one for $23.40....so, we owe $59.80....but, because the Gullivers trails check was in error of 30¢ we only send them a check for $59.50. The total amount owed is $91.00. So, with our $59.50 and Gullivers Trails $31.50....it comes out evenly.

The above sounds confused....but I think , (I hope) you can understand it. Please be sure to use the enclosed envelope with payment. The Kulicke bill is only $5.00 and I'll send it as soon as I get it.

Dear Friend,

We have exciting news! For the first time, Robert Rauschenberg, one of America's leading artists, has created a beautiful color silk screen for the Fourth Annual Artists for CORE Exhibition and Sale. Because of Mr. Rauschenberg's deep interest in CORE, he has made possible this unique, signed, limited edition of two hundred to the first patrons of our Art Show.

For one hundred dollars, you can become a patron. We will reserve your Rauschenberg and two tickets to the Preview, to be held Wednesday evening, April 28th, at the Graham Gallery, 1014 Madison Avenue, New York.

Proceeds from the 1965 Show will go to the CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, and will be especially earmarked for desperately needed funds for legal defense in the South.

We need your support! Please become a patron by sending us your check and the enclosed card immediately. Since Mr. Rauschenberg's edition is limited, we will only be able to honor requests in the order they are received.

Because of the exceptional quality of the contributions of leading artists in the past, our Art Exhibitions have been unusually distinguished. We look forward to seeing you at our Preview.

Sincerely, with our thanks,

Mrs. Carter Burden

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NATION'S TOP ARTISTS CREATE FOR CORE

The nation's leading artists are joining to contribute their most valuable possesion -- their talent -- to the civil rights movement.

Paintings, drawings, sculpture and prints, representing a cross section of American art, are being donated by more than 200 artists to the Fourth Annual Artists for CORE benefit exhibition and sale. The benefit will be open to the public with no admission charge from April 29 to May 8 at the Graham Gallery, 1014 Madison Avenue.

In a statement released with the announcement of the benefit, James Farmer, National Director of CORE said: "I can never forget how much artists, by their generosity, have helped. In past years, proceeds received from Artists for CORE benefit exhibitions have made possible summer civil rights programs in the South. This year, with our accelerated voter registration drives and with a long difficult road still ahead, the monies received through the efforts of Artists for CORE, will be more welcome than ever."

Mr. Farmer said that all proceeds from the sale will go to CORE's recently inaugurated Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund. Monies from the Fund will be used to meet expenses in the legal defense of civil rights workers arrested during demonstrations and voter registration campaigns.

On April 28 a gala preview of the Exhibition and Sale will be held. Patrons donating $100 will receive two preview tickets plus a numbered and signed original color silk screen print created especially for Artists for CORE by internationally renowned artist Robert Rauschenberg.

Preview tickets alone are worth $30 per couple or $20 for single admission. (Tickets may be purchased and preview donations made at Artists for CORE, 4 West 63 Street.)

Principal committee officers for Artist for CORE are: Mrs. August Heckscher and Mrs. Arthur C. Logan - Honorary Chairmen; Mrs. Alan J. Freedman - Chairman; Mrs. Lester J. Josephs - Coordinator; Lloyd Goodrich, Director of the Whitney Museum and Jack Tworkov, noted artist - Co-chairmen of the Art Selection Committee; Mrs. Robert E. Kintner and Mrs. Carter Burden - Co-chairmen of the Patron's Committee.

(CORRECTED SHEET)

Many people made this exhibition possible. Our special thanks go to the Graham Galleries and their entire staff, and to all the following for their most generous donation of services, time and talent:

Mr. Shelley Appleton.....for his all round assistance, without which we could not have managed,
Chanin Management.....for Artists for CORE office and storage space, at 4 West 63 St.,
Mr. Alvin Eisemann.....for designing our invitations, poster and leaflets,
Mr. Alan J. Freedman.....for all our multilithing and trucking of paintings,
Mr. Robert Graham.....for the flag waving outside the gallery,
Kulicke Frames.....for designing a special frame for the Rauschenberg print.
Mr. Herbert Levenberg....for repainting the Graham Gallery,
Mr. James Mathews.....for all photography work,
Mr. A. Silberman.....for office and storage space during the show,
Mr. Campbell Wylly.....for hanging this show with the invaluable help of:

Lindsey Decker
Mon Levinson
Kyle Morris
Robert Moskowitz
Raymond Parker
James Starrett

Mr. William C. Bendig and Mr. Paul Shanley of The Art Gallery,

To all those at National CORE for their cooperation.

Above all, to our sales force and volunteers, too numerous to mention here, our heartfelt appreciation for their considerable and varied assistance.

Our apologies to Gregorio Prestopino whose name was accidentally omitted from the list of donating artists.

Forgive us and note corrected spelling of the following names: Regina Bogat, Xavier Gonzalez, Charles B. Hinman.

Re: 1014 Madison Avenue

Attention: Mrs. Alan J. Freedman

Dear Mrs. Freedman:

As per your request, we herewith submit our estimate for the painting to be done at the above address.

Second floor gallery, and stairway from third floor to main floor entrance, all walls & woodwork (excluding ceilings and window trim) to be painted for the sum of: $300.00

If third floor gallery is to be painted an additional $200.00 is to be added to estimate.

All above work to be performed on a Saturday.

Very truly yours,

MILLER & LEVENBERG, INC.

Mrs. Barbara Kulicke
Kulicke Frames
85 University Place
New York, New York

Dear Barbara:

We're all most appreciative of the wonderful cooperation you're giving us in this year's Artists for CORE show.

As agreed, you will design a frame especially for the Rauschenberg silkscreen, to sell to our patrons for thirty-five dollars($35.00). Checks will be made out to Artists for CORE. Twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per frame will be forwarded to you, and ten dollars ($10.00) retained by CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund.

Your agreeing to do last minute framing for the show will be of great service to us. The 50% discount and your willingness to credit frames on unsold paintings are most generous contributions toward the success of our show.

Many thanks again, from all of us working on this important cause.

Mrs. Alan J. Freedman

P.S. We are reserving one of the Rauschenberg silk screen prints for you, the cost of which will be credited against our account with you. We're happy to list you as a patron of the show.

Re: Rauchenberg-CORE
Print

Dear Marian:

I am pleased to furnish the following estimate for the Rauchenberg Print as we discussed on the phone. Ives-Sillman, 100 York Street, New Haven Connecticut, agrees to produce for Artists for Core an edition of 225 monofilament screen prints, 24" x 36", from original art work by Robert Rauchenberg, fully proofed and prepared for artist's number and signature for the sum of $2216.50. This figure covers all costs for preliminary preparation, photographic work, and fabrication of screens; labor and materials for printing all tests and final runs; slipsheeting, trimming and proofing of finish edition; and delivery of edition to the artist for final approval. Barring unforseen complications all work should be completed by April 8, 1965.

Terms: 25% due with signed acceptance of this estimate
75% due upon acceptance of finish work for signature by Robert Rauchenberg.
Three test prints, not part of edition of 225, are to be signed by the artist and retained by Ives-Sillman.

Sincerely yours,

James D. McNair

Attention: Mr. Greenspan

Dear Mr. Greenspan:

You will find attached a sketch of the banner which we would like to have made for our exhibition at the Graham Gallery, 1014 Madison Avenue.

The design and specifications are those which you discussed with Miss Kerr of our office.

I understand you will do an estimate for us as soon as you receive this letter. That estimate and the subsequent bill are to be addressed to us.

Many thanks for the time and interest you are giving this. We are grateful for any cooperation which will help us in this most urgent time for the civil rights movement.

Cordially,

Mrs. Doris Freedman
Chairman

Abacrome, Inc.

Attention: Mr. Greenspan

Dear Mr. Greenspan:

Below is a sketch of the banner for our show at the Graham Gallery, as per our discussion.

Please note: We would like the lettering to run from upper left to lower right (which is a change from your original suggestions).

Best regards,

Eva Kerr

May 25, 1965

Dear Ben;

Please see that the following bills are paid:

Manpower Inc. For part time sect"y	$17.50
Art Delivery Service for return of paintings	$33.75

Also, please send me a check for $45.00 made out to Karl Schrag for a painting sold.

Would you check and see if there was a check made out to Philip Evergood for $350.00. We have no record of having mailed it to him and his painting was sold.

Thank you.

Mr. Marvin Rich , Director
CORE Scholarship. Education and Defense Fund
150 Nassau Street
New York, New York 10038

Dear Marvin:

Enclosed is one check for $35.00 from Mrs. Stan Fingerhood covering one Rauschenberg Frame.

Please send me a check for $143.00 made out to KULICKE FRAMES, INC. covering the following invoice numbers:

#8807	$16.00	(Reg. Pollock) artist
#4570	18.00	(Ray Kercin) "
#8776	16.00	(Harisiesne) "
#8663	15.00	(J. Wines) "
#4571	21.00	(J. Tworkov) "
#8809	14.00	(E. Kerr) To be paid back to CORE
#8639	52.00	(Ortman & 3Ben Shahna)
#8638	16.25	(Lassaw)
#8828	14.00	(Hartigan)
#8778	16.00	(Altman)
#8412	25.00	(Baskin & Rivers)
#8637	6.50	(Shapiro)

The total is $243.75, but we have $100.00 in credit for a Rauschenberg which was given in exchange for Frames.

Would you also send a second Kulicke check covering 30 Rauschenberg frames, and one broken glass. The glass was $3.00, the 30 frames come to $750.00 the invoice numbers are as follows

#1010	$750.00	(Thirty frames)
#1632	3.00	(Glass for Mr. Pei)

this check should then be made out for $753.00, and we're then only 13 frames away from closing out our bill with Kulicke..I feel it's better not to pay them for the rest until they bill us, as it would only confuse all our bookkeeping at this time.

Regards,

June 14, 1965

Mrs. Barbara Kulicke
Kulicke Frames INC.
85 University Place
New York, New York

Dear Barbara:

Enclosed you will find two checks. One covering invoice numbers;

total $753.00.

~~The~~ other check covers all the framing done for the Fourth Annual Artists for CORE Show. Invoice numbers:

#8807	$ 16.00
#4570	18.00
#8776	16.00
#8663	15.00
#4571	21.00
#8809	14.00
#8639	52.00
#8638	16.25
#8828	14.00
#8778	16.00
#8412	25.00
#8637	6.50
#8806	14.00

Total $243.75, less $100.00 in credit for a Rauschenberg Print given in exchange for frames.

Thank you for all your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Doris

ARTISTS FOR CORE

We are experiencing the most thorough re-examination of American society since the 1930's. For the first time in our history we are at the brink of legal equality. Now we press on to even deeper issues—how to convert the nightmare of poverty and alienation into the American dream of well being for all regardless of color.

CORE SEDF is stationed in the community where the success or failure of the new social experiments will be decided. By awarding scholarships for higher education to the young who have proved themselves as leaders; by sponsoring voter registration campaigns; by providing training for developing community leaders, by giving legal service to those whose rights are abused, CORE SEDF hopes to pave the way for full participation in American society.

We all have a part in this great moral struggle—black and white, artist and patron, activisit and supporter. This Art Show is a testimonial to our common commitment to the great battle of this generation.

May 1966

We are most grateful for your generosity in contributing to this year's Artists for CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Show.

Although we regret that your work was not sold, it added immeasurably to the show and aided substantially in creating the quality of excellence which the exhibit projected.

It was because of this quality and the cooperation of artists like you, that we have exceeded our goal and raised a record amount of $70,000.00.

As you know, proceeds from the show will go primarily into legal defense for which funds are still so desperately needed.

Thank you, again.

Very sincerely,

Mrs. Alan J. Freedman

The Artists for CORE exhibition and sale is the strongest demonstration of the art community's concern with the need to make our society truly equal and democratic. We need your help. We ask you to give us a work as your share in the partnership between the art community and the struggle for freedom.

Because of the exceptional quality of contributions in previous years, this show has gained importance as an exhibition as well as a sale. Foundations have purchased works which have gone to Universities and Museums in both the North and South. We hope to expand this aspect of our program this year.

As you know, funds are desperately needed for legal defense in the South. Proceeds for the 1966 Show will go to CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, and your contribution will be tax deductible.

We are grateful to the Grippi & Waddell Gallery for generously contributing their space for the exhibition and sale. The Show will open Wednesday evening, April 27th and will run through May 7th.

Your regular market price will be protected and if you desire, a percentage of the sale price will be retained for you and forwarded to you after the sale. Please indicate your wishes on the enclosed form and return it to us as soon as possible in order that the assembling of the material for the catalogue may be completed within the next few weeks.

Very sincerely, with our thanks,
